DESSYE, Ethiopia, Dec. 6.—(INS)—Ten Italian bombing planes roared over Dessye in a surprise raid between eight and nine o'clock this morning and dropped scores of incendiary and high explosive bombs, killing and wounding an undetermined number and virtually leveling the city, headquarters for Emperor Haile Selassie and his northern armies.

Bombs were rained ruthlessly upon the American Seventh Day Adventist hospital.

The emperor himself narrowly escaped death when his palace was damaged by the bombardment.

The army encampment was destroyed as the Italian flyers apparently scored hits on all their objectives.

Dessye's flimsy buildings were eaten up by flames which spread rapidly in the wake of the incendiary bombs.

Bodies of many of those killed and wounded by the bombs themselves were eaten up by the raging fire. This added to the difficulties of definitely ascertaining the number of casualties.

The American hospital was gutted by the bombs, despite the Red Crosses painted on its roofs. Many of the invalids within were seriously wounded. It was believed some were killed.

An American nurse, Patra Hoewing, suffered a broken leg. Many of the foreign journalists were wounded as our encampment was destroyed.

First Real Taste
Emperor Selassie got his first real taste of war.

When his palace was bombed he and his Ras Makonnen, his minister of the interior, dashed out, escaping unhurt, and hurried to the wrecked hospital.

There they saw a stream of wounded being carried to the shell building, being treated with feverish haste by the few doctors available. Emergency operations were being performed under the most difficult circumstances.

Dessye was virtually destroyed, its flimsy building rapidly turned

HOUSE APPROVES TAX ON INCOME; SENATE WARNED

Disputed Measure Sent to Upper House; Defeat May Mean Sales Tax Fight

COLUMBUS, Dec. 6.—(INS)—

"Accept the state income tax or re-enactment of the three per cent sales tax will be threatened."

This, in effect, was the warning of proponents of the Ward state income tax measure, which passed the House for the second time this year 85 to 33, as the measure was sent to the senate for approval today.

The measure of Rep. P. E. Ward (R), Chardon, estimated to produce $20,000,000 annually starting in 1937, assesses all earned incomes on a graduated scale from one to seven per cent, starting with exemptions of $1,000 above federal income tax levels.

Defeated by Senate
It is the second time the lower house has sent income tax to the senate. The first trip, during the regular session, resulted in the death of the measure.

This time, House leaders voted the income tax before the legislature has attempted to re-enact the sales tax, which will expire on Dec. 31 this year.

Neither Ward, nor any other supporter of the income tax has openly threatened to fight the sale, tax unless the senate passes the income measure, but collectively, the proponents of the measure let it be known, unofficially, that the fate of the sales tax may be in doubt if the income tax is killed again in the senate.

The two houses joined hands.

The posse, led by Allen Stanfield, Deputy U. S. Marshal, and Sheriff Tom Jordan, received a tip from a farmer from whom the desperadoes had demanded shelter.

In the gun battle that followed, Heady was shot and killed, and Short was probably fatally wounded, with a bullet near his heart. Gilmore was injured slightly.

BOWER ELECTED NEW PRESIDENT OF MEN'S GROUP

Lutheran Brotherhood Passes
Twenty-Fifth Year; Honors Charter Members

Trinity Lutheran Brotherhood celebrated its twenty-fifth anniversary Thursday evening.

This important event in the history of the organization was opened by the entire audience singing "Work for the Night is Coming" this being followed by the reading of the 125th Psalm and prayer by Dr. G. J. Troutman, then the consecration hymn "Take My Life and Let It Be" was sung.

Owing to the removal of Secretary Marvin Yerke from this city to Columbus, Charles Walters was selected as secretary for the balance of the year.

Bower New President

The election of officers for the year 1936 was held, resulting in the selection of the following: president, Luther Bower; vice president, Charles Walters; treasurer, R. D. Good; recording secretary, Ludwig Haecker; reporting secretary, J. D. Hummel and pianist, Carl Palm.

During the intermission, Charles Walters and his committee of ten members, served a lunch of vegetable soup, cheese sandwiches and coffee, after which the meeting was again called to order by President Harry Bartholomew, who presented Dr. G. J. Troutman as chairman of the program.

In his timely remarks, Dr. Troutman told of how the Men's Missionary conference held in Columbus in February twenty-five years ago thoroughly discussed the matter of organization of brotherhoods in the various churches of this district, with the result that he carried the message to Circleville and soon thereafter Trinity Lutheran brotherhood was organized by sixteen charter members and has continued to function and grow for the past quarter of a century.

Nine Still Active

Of the sixteen charter members, nine are still living and active in the organization.

E. Sensenbrenner served as temporary chairman at the organization meeting and Jacob Merz was elected president and Frank Mason secretary.

Dr. Troutman first introduced Carl C. Leist who took as his subject, "A Tribute to Our Charter Members," fittingly bestowing honor to whom honor is due, closing his tribute and that of the brotherhood in poetical lines of his own composition and in turn commending the nine living members, Dr. G. J. Troutman, W. E. Crist, Edward Sensenbrenner, J. H. Helwagen, Frank Mason, D. E. Mason, William Heffner H. S. Heffner and W. F. Heffner for the great part they have played in organization and continued support in what is now generally regarded as not only the best brotherhood in this district but in the State of Ohio. Mr. Leist also bestowed his flowers on the eight charter members who have passed on to the Greater Brotherhood above.

J. H. Helwagen was next introduced and told of "Some of the Accomplishments of the Brotherhood in the past twenty-five years."

Many Memories Recalled

E. Sensenbrenner has always been recognized as the master mind in writing brotherhood bulletins and again at this session maintained his reputation in that respect, taking as his theme "The Joys I Have Found in Our Brotherhood." Pleasing were many of the memories that he brought back to the members in attendance, reciting many things that had almost entirely faded from many minds.

Charles L. Mack was the last speaker on the regularly set program and from his experience and interest he gave many good suggestions under his topic "How to Improve Our Brotherhood in the Future."

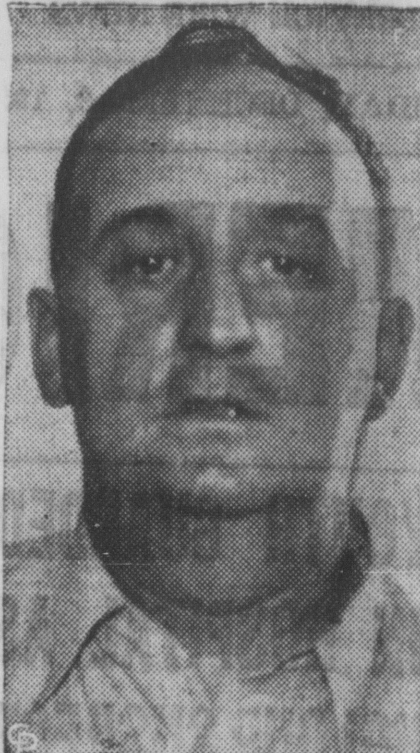

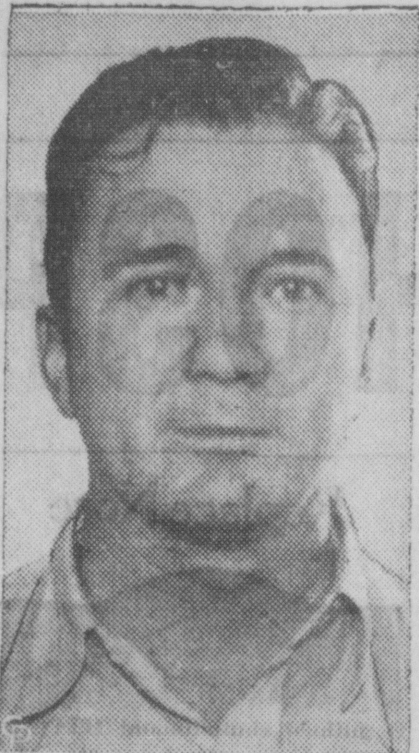

The interspersing songs "Long, Long Ago" and "Far Away" were appropriately selected and the singing was inspiring.

After the regularly set program was over, the meeting was thrown open for suggestions and remarks and W. E. Crist, E. E. Wolf, C. A. Leist, Harry Bartholomew and others brought back to mind many of the memories of past accomplishments of the brotherhood and offered suggestions for the future that undoubtedly will be employed and be of much benefit.

All in all it was a very fitting ending to a quarter century of progress in brotherhood work and will undoubtedly be an inspiration to do greater things in the future.

The closing session of the old year will be held on Thursday evening, Dec. 19, the program in charge of the newly elected officers and lunch to be served by the out-going officers.

Radio Star Frightened Audience in Wierd Role

Nelson Eddy made up for the role of "Amonasro", the King of Ethiopia, in "Aida".

"Amonasro" Part in "Aida" Gave Nelson Eddy Stage Debut; Sings Many Numbers Monday

Nelson Eddy, sensational star of stage, screen and radio, takes an unusual interest in the course of events in Ethiopia. In fact he was once in the King of Ethiopia's shoes.

That was twelve years ago when he made his first stage debut. Having won a singing competition in Philadelphia he was awarded the part of "Amonasro" in a presentation of the opera "Aida" at the Academy of Music.

"When they saw me make my first entrance the customers may have been as scared as I was," says Eddy, referring to the fierce make-up and costume of the part, "but I doubt it. It was a good thing my face was hidden with hair and makeup, because I was white as a sheet. Anyway, I got a good reception and it encouraged me to adopt a singing career. So when Ethiopia is mentioned I am always interested. I know what Haile Selassie must feel like."

Besides working on a new motion picture "Rose Marie," Eddy is appearing on a radio program with Miss Marge Sparks, young American soprano, and William Daly's noted orchestra. Next Monday evening he will be heard over the NBC-WEAF network at 8:30 E.S.T.

The program includes the following songs by Eddy: "The Land of the Sky Blue Water," "Shade of the Sheltering Palm," "Estrellita," "Vision Fugitive" from Massenet's "Herodias" and a duet with Miss Sparks, "Mira Di Acerbe Lagrime" from the opera "Il Trovatore." Miss Sparks and the Choral Symphony in "Chinese Lullaby," "Tannhauser" by Daly's Symphonic String Orchestra and a rendition of the negro spiritual "Steal Away" completes the program.

Saturday, December 7

Lehigh University Glee Club will be heard in a program of songs from Philadelphia over the CBS-WABC network at 12 noon EST.

IOFFMAN'S VISIT IN HAUPTMANN'S CELL EXPLAINED

New Jersey Governor Wants to Prove Bruno Either Guilty
or Not Guilty

TRENTON, N. J., Dec. 6—(INS)—Governor Harold Ioffman did not visit Bruno Richard Hauptmann in his death house cell in any effort to "whitewash" the Bronx carpenter.

Instead his dramatic interview with the dour German was part of a final move by the state of New Jersey to establish once and for all that the doomed slayer of the Lindbergh baby was not the victim of a miscarriage of justice. This was the view taken in official circles close to the governor's office today.

Because of the international interest in the Lindbergh kidnaping and murder, it was pointed out, official New Jersey views with horror the barest possibility that Hauptmann after going to his death in the electric chair, might be proven an innocent man, or even partly innocent man.

Report Trade Offered
One report today linked the death house visit of the governor to a reputed offer of life imprisonment and $10,000 to Hauptmann if he would make a "full confession" of his part in the "crime of the century" and involve a possible "accomplice."

This offer, credited to a high New Jersey official, was not, the governor was supposedly made on October 10, exactly one week before Hauptmann made his unprecedented call at the death house and listened over an hour to Hauptmann's attempt to explain away the mass of evidence piled up against him at his trial in Flemington.

It was made clear that Governor Hoffman in his anxiety to get to the bottom of the case is not ignoring three apparently iron-clad items of evidence against Hauptmann. These are:

1. The presence of a large part of the ransom money, carefully hidden, on his property.
2. The tracing of the wood in the kidnap ladder to a Bronx lumber yard, where Hauptmann had worked, and the matching of wood from the ladder to wood taken from Bruno's attic.
3. The testimony of qualified experts that Hauptmann wrote the ransom notes.

Additional details of the governor's remarkable parley with Hauptmann on the night of October 17 came to light today.

Given Encouragement
The executive, it was said, gave the carpenter this much encouragement:

"I give you my solemn word of honor as governor of this state that you will receive every consideration possible if your story is true."

WALNUT-TWP SCHOOL NEWS

The Home Economics classes entertained their mothers at tea Thursday afternoon, from two to four o'clock. The tea was in the form of a style show. The Sophomore and Junior girls modeled the dresses which they made this fall. The wool dresses of the Sophomores were for sport, and afternoon wear, and the afternoon dresses of the juniors were of silk. Lowell Rager played the piano during the style show. The auditorium was decorated in blue and gold streamers. The program was given by the girls.

The lunch consisted of fancy tea sandwiches, fruit punch and buttered-seafood waffles. Hazel Peters was chairman of the refreshments committee.

There were thirty guests present.

The Freshman Home Economics girls have been divided into four families, choosing for their names, "The Bluebirds," "The Greenies," "The Workers" and "The Jolly Quins." There are five girls in each family. Two groups will prepare and serve breakfasts to the other two, who are working on breakfast charts. Their menu is: beverage, fruit, and toast.

The Freshman and Sophomore agriculture classes have been studying the production of swine. Last Wednesday they went to the home of Mr. Coon to judge swine. They had four different rings of swine to judge. This gave the boys a better idea of judging swine, and also of selecting a gilt for their projects.

Both Agriculture classes were invited to attend the Nebraska Grange meeting held in the evening of Nov. 20. The program consisted of talks by members of the Walnut Chapter of F. F. A. Their topics were:

The importance of project elections, Gerald Solt.

Why I Take So Many Projects, Roger Kinsel.

Experiments with Protein Feeds, Max Lynch.

How Soy Bean Meal is Made, Lloyd Runkel.

Parliamentary Procedure in F. F. A., Ivan Amerine.

Betty Tweed, Senior, is now in White Cross hospital recuperating from an appendectomy.

Miss Weaver's and Miss Baker's first grades united and gave a Thanksgiving program in Miss Weaver's room last Wednesday, Nov. 27 at 1:10.

Cheers for Calumet's New 10¢ Can—
and perfect, never-fail baking!

"I never have baking troubles with Calumet—and I save, too!" says Mrs. Jack Casey, 880 Avalon St., Memphis, Tenn.

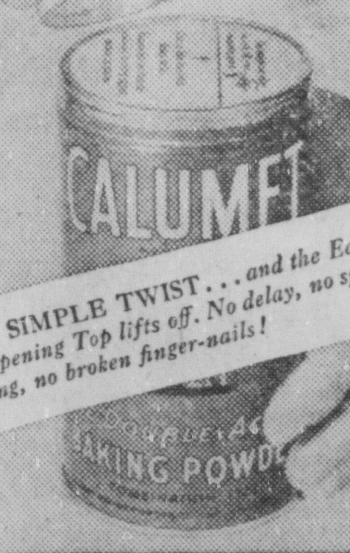

"Your new 10¢ can makes me feel very thrifty!" says Mrs. Nancy E. Williams, 499 Moreland Ave., Atlanta, Ga.

"It's real quality at a saving!" says Mrs. K. J. Tobin, of Beverly Hills, Ill. "I've never had a baking failure with Calumet."

Why does Calumet give such "luck"? Why is it different from other baking powders?

Calumet combines two distinct leavening actions. A quick one for the mixing bowl—a slower one for the oven. This Double-Action is so perfectly balanced and controlled that it produces perfect leavening. Calumet is a product of General Foods.

A SIMPLE TWIST... and the Easy-Opening Top lifts off. No delay, no spilling, no broken finger-nails!

All Calumet prices are lower! Calumet is now selling at the lowest prices in its history... The regular price of the Full-Pound Can is now only 25¢! And ask to see the new, big 10¢ can—a lot of good baking for a dime—with Calumet, the Double-Acting Baking Powder.

IL DUCE WARNS PREMIER LAVAL

Italy's Leader Withdraws from
Stresa "Front"

MILAN, Dec. 6—(INS)—Practically announcing Italy's withdrawal from the Stresa "front" against Germany, Popolo D'Italia today warned Britain and France that Italy will not fight at their side in a European conflagration. Popolo D'Italia was founded by Premier Benito Mussolini, and the editorial was certainly either written or inspired by him.

"Europe, in its hour of torment, will not have the moral right to ask salvation from Italy," the paper declared.

Warning that the League of Nations' economic sanctions had destroyed chances of Italy's collaboration, the paper continued:

"History will continue after this siege. Europe, which sought peace at Rome through the four-power pact, and successive accords, has thrown herself into disequilibrium."

"Without Italy, Europe will not have peace."

Foreign observers were inclined to interpret the severe tone of the editorial as a warning to Premier Pierre Laval of France that his cooperation in sanctions is breaking up his pet policy of European collaboration.

the week-end but from all reports there was little game taken.

The school board has purchased a new filing cabinet which will be used in the office.

The second six weeks examinations were given Wednesday, Thursday, and Friday.

The cafeteria is serving record crowds this last week.

Miss Bowers' name was inadvertently omitted from those having 98 per cent attendances for the first six weeks. The room deserves double commendation because it has an average record of twelve weeks with more than a 98 per cent attendance.

John Weaver had the best maps of the North Central States. It showed the corn belt, wheat belt, how far south the Great Glacier came, and the states that have more manufacturing than farming. John Weaver made models of the stocks, ducking stool, and the pillory.

The seventh grade has charts of beef, cattle, hogs and wheat.

Junior and Geneva Alkinson have been transferred to Williamsport.

Our weekly spelling row contest was won this week by James Brown's row. Other members of the row were: Mary Sigler, Maynard Roger, Robert Koch and William Strehle returned to school Monday after being absent nearly three weeks because of Scarlet Fever.

Myrtle Mettler has missed the last week because of illness.

SENATE DEFEAT FOR MILK BILL IS THREATENED

Bittinger Casts Deciding Ballot in House as Measure is Re-Considered

COLUMBUS, Dec. 6.—(INS)—Saved from another defeat by the vote of the speaker, J. Freer Bittinger, Ashland, the Carey-Creedy bill providing for state control of the milk industry went to the state senate today for its final test.

The measure creating a four-member commission to control the milk industry for three years, passed the House late yesterday 69 to 49, receiving one more vote than the number necessary for passage.

Bittinger, presiding over the assembly, cast the deciding vote, an unusual procedure since the speaker seldom casts a ballot except in case of a tie. Rep. John A. Donbeck (D), Cleveland, originally voted against the bill, but changed his vote after Bittinger cast the deciding ballot.

May End Long Fight

Passage of the bill climaxed a five month battle for control legislation, with Representatives Creedy (R), Ashtabula-co; Deibel (R), Medina-co and Carey (D), Lucas-co, leading the proponents.

The bill was defeated earlier in the week, receiving 62 votes to 58 against the proposal, six shy of the necessary number. It was brought up again on the motion of Rep. William Boyd (D), Cleveland, for reconsideration.

Rep. Willis I. Cory (R), Fosteria; Rep. Ed Rose (R), Akron and Rep. Carl F. Wintzer (D), Wapakoneta, led the opposition, but dissenters gave way to the increasing pressure from farmer groups enough to permit the bill to pass.

It is headed for another defeat in the senate, however, observers believe, since members of the upper body once before turned the proposal down and a majority of the senators today indicated they still oppose regulation of the milk industry.

Guarantee Prices

The bill, in its present form, would guarantee farmers producers 45 per cent of the market price of milk as a minimum during summer months and 50 per cent during the winter, when forage is scarce. This provision was inserted on an amendment by Rep. W. P. Van Ness (R), Mechanicsburg.

Salaries of members of the state commission, who would be named by the governor, are set at $3,000 annually. The price-fixing features of the bill would terminate at the end of two years, although commissioners would continue in office for three years.

DIET AND HEALTH

Effectiveness of Soap And Water as Antiseptic

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

"THERE ARE two great sources of communicable disease—man himself, and the lower animal. But since most of man's epidemic diseases are peculiar to himself, man is the greatest source and reservoir of human infection. Man is man's greatest foe in this regard."

So says Dr. Rosenau in his textbook on "Preventive Medicine and Hygiene". These communicable diseases enter the body almost exclusively by one of three routes: through the mouth, through the respiratory system—the nose, throat and lungs—and, third, through the skin.

The first group, those that enter through the mouth and digestive tract, can be carried to the mouth by the hands as well as in the food. The second group, those that enter through the respiratory tract, can be carried there by the hands as well as in the air we breathe. The third group, those which enter through the skin, are, in most cases, carried to the infected area by scratching or curious fingers.

On all counts, it is evidently important to observe the advice of Dr. Shilley Wynne, former commissioner of health, New York City, when he says "Don't Spare the Soap!"

Soap Antiseptic

No antiseptic is effective, except in first-aid injuries, without the use of soap and water. Soap often has been shown to be one of the best antiseptics available—not only does it remove germs, but it actually kills them by its presence. The reason that no antiseptic is effective without the use of preparatory cleanliness is that germs tend to be caught in grease and oil and dirt—in the

Bank Robbers Held

TWO Kenton, O., farm boys, Harold Carmean, 19, top, and Raymond McMahon, 20, below, face long prison terms for alleged admitted participation in a $1,883 robbery of the Mount Blanchard, O., bank and a filling station. According to Lieut. John W. Kirchbaum, district commander of the state highway patrol, who arrested McMahon in a night club on the tip of an automobile dealer, the two youths confessed.

WILLIAMSPORT PLANS DECORATING CONTEST

A Christmas decorating contest is being sponsored in Williamsport by the Ohio Midland Light & Power Co., for homes and commercial establishments.

Two awards will be given for residential entries, one for the best decorated exterior and the other for the most original idea. Prizes will be the choice of an electric clock or study lamp. The commercial prize will be an electric clock.

COUNTY IS SURVEYING ROAD FOR AID PROJECT

Employees of the surveyor's office are making a survey of the Five Points-Palestine road to be improved as a federal aid highway project. The improvement will cover 6.3 miles and is listed at $27,000.

This project is the secondary state route project recently approved by John J. Jaster, Jr., state highway director.

The bureau of standards says that the highest temperatures of artificial heat are attained by electric arcs, with exception of instantaneous effects of condenser discharge.

BROTHERHOOD TO HELP BLIND SELL FLOWERS IN STREETS SATURDAY

Permission has been given the American Brotherhood for the Blind to sell flowers on the streets Saturday in the interests of the Brotherhood activities in behalf of the sightless.

Among those sponsoring the affair are Mayor William B. Cady, Rev. and Mrs. E. S. Toensmeier, Miss Mary Wilder, Rev. Fr. J. J. Herman, Mrs. W. W. Robinson, and Rev. and Mrs. Herman Sayre.

Miss Catherine T. Smith will be in charge of the sale and finances. Headquarters will be in the Chamber of Commerce rooms, where supplies will be given to those who wish to help.

During the past fifteen years the American Brotherhood for the Blind has rendered nation-wide service to the sightless having published over 10,000 volumes in Braille and placing these books free in libraries that circulate books for the Blind.

The Brotherhood issues a monthly "All Story Braille Magazine," the only one of its kind in the United States. It circulates free to Braille readers in every state and seventeen foreign countries. The public library here has the magazine.

The organization is supported entirely by friendly contributions and "flower sales."

The flowers are to be sold on the streets for whatever anyone is willing to give.

There will be four lovely prizes and movie passes, generously given by friends and movie managers as "contest incentive" for the youthful workers.

The first prize will be two one dollar bills; second, a beauty kit; third, woolen scarf; fourth, dainty compact, all generously given by friends of the blind. Purchasers are requested to display the flower to avoid a second appeal.

Poems That Live

PLAYGROUND

In summer I am very glad
We children are so small,
For we can see a thousand things
That men can't see at all.

They don't know much about the moss
And all the stones they pass:
They never lie and play among
The forests in the grass:

They walk about a long way off;
And, when we're at the sea,
Let father stoop as best he can
He can't find things like me.

But, when the snow is on the ground
And all the puddles freeze,
I wish that I were very tall,
High up among the trees.

A liquid can always be taken in gradually reduced doses. Reduced dosage is the real secret of relief from constipation.

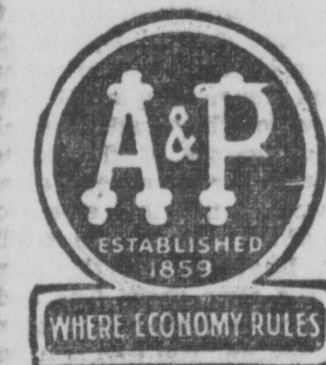

Ask a doctor about this. Ask your druggist how very popular Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin has become. It gives the right kind of help, and right amount of help. Taking a little less each time, gives the bowels a chance to act of their own accord, until they are moving regularly and thoroughly without any help at all.

GRAHAM, TOO, CHARGES IRREGULARITIES IN ELECTION

ANSWER ON FILE AS COURT FIGHT LOOMS DEC. 16

Republican Mayor-Elect Declares Cady Failed to File Bond With Action

Allegations of irregularities on the Democratic side of the last election were injected into the mayoralty contest Thursday when Will J. Graham, mayor elect, filed his answer to Mayor W. B. Cady's petition in common pleas court.

The answer alleges minors and non-residents voted for Mayor Cady, ballots were cast by voters who were not residents of the precincts in which they voted, the Board of Elections failed to count ballots that should have been counted for Mr. Graham, and there were other irregularities. The allegations made by Mr. Graham are very similar to those made by Mayor Cady in his petition.

The answer further contends Mayor Cady failed to file a bond, with sureties approved by the clerk of court with his petition as required by the statutes, and the court has not issued or entered any order for notice and service of a copy of the petition.

Added to the answer is a list of 11 interrogatories. They ask what minors and non-residents cast illegal votes for Mr. Graham and in what precincts they were cast, in what precincts and how many mutilated and defaced ballots were counted, and what other irregularities occurred at the election referred to in the petition.

The case is scheduled for hearing Dec. 16 before a foreign judge to be assigned by the chief justice.

Weldon and Weldon and John P. Phillips, Jr., of Chillicothe, are counsel for Mr. Graham. Leist and Leist and E. L. Crist represent Mr. Cady.

into smoke and ashes. The emperor's more durable palace, which he left burning, was faced with total destruction.

The surprise raid was conducted with precision. The big bombers zoomed low over their objectives, dropped their deadly missiles, and then circled to repeat.

All here were terrified, including the journalists, most of whom had been cabling to their editors that the war was too dull to cover. Georges Doyon, correspondent for a French news agency, had his leg broken.

The big bombers brought the reality of the war sharply home to the emperor and his aides as well as to the journalists. Dessye is 200 miles from the northern front, but the city could not have been wrecked more had it been right on the Italian lines.

The wrecked hospital, only one in Dessye, is operated by a California couple, Dr. Andreas Stadin and his wife, Seventh Day Adventists.

long enough to rush through an emergency relief measure to give 19 Ohio counties enough money to care for direct relief needs during the balance of December.

The House passed the senate-conceived bill to advance nearly $250,000 to these counties immediately from utility excise taxes that would be allocated to the counties next Feb. 15.

Gov. Davey signed the bill late yesterday after Sen. Paul P. Yoder, (D), Dayton, president pro-tem of the senate and J. Freer Bittinger (D), Ashland, speaker of the House, signed the bill. It becomes law immediately, and the state treasurer and state auditor are authorized to advance the funds to the counties in greatest need at once.

The bill, bearing the name of Senator Hunter (D), Toledo, actually provides nearly $750,000 in utility excise tax advances, will give the 19 counties in greatest need only about $125,000.

These counties failed to vote Carey act relief bonds and are without any relief funds.

Highway patrolmen said he claimed the shoulder wound was received from an accidental discharge of the gun when he slipped and fell on the ice. A friend who had borrowed the gun, had just returned it, he told them.

Gault was taken to the hospital about 9 o'clock last night by a man who gave his name as Joe Viola. He later disappeared, taking the patients clothing with him.

Gault lives near the Glen Robbins mine with his parents. The mine did not work yesterday.

The man who took the wounded suspect to the hospital explained before departing that he had been called to the home of Gault's mother-in-law, nearby, when an ambulance did not arrive as soon as desired.

"Good Samaritan"

He said he was merely playing the role of "good Samaritan" in removing Gault to the hospital and in returning his clothes to a neighbor at the relatives' request.

MONDAY SET AS "OLD TOY DAY" IN CITY SCHOOLS

All Children Urged to Take Discarded Toys to Respective Buildings

Next Monday has been set as "Toy Day" in Circleville's public schools.

All children who can find, salvage, resurrect, dig up, or in any other way gather some toys are urged to take them to their respective school buildings Monday morning. Firemen will call for them.

Superintendent Frank Fischer has agreed with representatives of the fire department that Monday should be the day. Firemen believe children will gather their toys Saturday and Sunday and have them ready to take to school Monday morning.

Remember, kiddies, this is your opportunity to help some poor boy or girl enjoy Christmas.

PUBLIC HEALTH SEAL MONEY RETAINED HERE

With the sale of Christmas Seals now in progress many Pickaway counties are interested in knowing what roles these little stickers played in combating disease locally.

Eighty per cent of the proceeds of the Christmas Seal sale is spent in this county. Last year the funds obtained paid for six chest x-rays, 10 rooms for patients in Berger hospital, dental service for six needy children, 12 tonsil and adenoid operations and 26 pair of glasses in addition to repairs for many others.

The Seals are responsible for saving untold thousands of lives through the program of tuberculosis prevention they support—education, nursing service, tuberculin testing, x-rays, clinics, open air schools and summer camps, rehabilitation and research work. Tuberculosis kills more persons between 15 and 45 than any other disease. This is the 29th year of the Christmas Seal sale.

The work of the Pickaway-co Public Health League has been endorsed by the following citizens: W. B. Cady, Dr. C. C. Beale, Miss Charlotte Phelps, Robert G. Colville, Judge J. W. Adkins, Charles H. May, Judge C. C. Young, C. G. Shulze, A. E. Fissell, O. S. Howard, D. D. Dowden, Carl F. Seitz, Will Hamilton, B. F. Benford, T. A. Renick, J. W. Crist, E. S. Roper, S. G. Rader, Charles Ger-

PATTERN 9665

A wrap-around slip that's adjustable is just about the wisest investment any woman could make, especially if her budget is limited—her measurement difficult. Made with a deep lap in back, it's fastened there with a single button, and should you lose a few pounds in the months to come, simply set the button over a bit, and you've proven the practicality of the adjustable feature. Don't you like the idea of a built-up bodice, for a change? You'll surely approve of shoulder-straps that can't slip, too, and a deeply cut V line in back which allows the slip to be worn with a low-backed frock. Choose a pretty pastel crepe, satin or muslin for an every day foundation—satin for wear under your best frocks. Complete, Diagrammed Marian Martin Sew Chart included.

Pattern 9665 may be ordered only in sizes 14, 16, 18, 20, 32, 34, 36, 38, 40, 42, 44 and 46. Size 16 requires 3 yards 39 inch fabric.

Send FIFTEEN CENTS in coins or stamps (coins preferred) for EACH MARIAN MARTIN pattern. Be sure to write plainly your NAME, ADDRESS, the STYLE NUMBER and SIZE of each pattern. THE NEW MARIAN MARTIN PATTERN BOOK will be ready for mailing December 18. Place your order now, and be among the first to receive a copy. It's a practical pattern book that interprets Spring's newest fashions in thrifty, easy-to-make clothes for the whole family! PRICE OF BOOK FIFTEEN CENTS. BOOK AND A PATTERN TOGETHER, TWENTY-FIVE CENTS.

Send your order to The Herald Pattern Department, 210 N. Court-st., Circleville, Ohio.

TO LOCAL MERCHANTS

DEAR FOLKS: Your establishments certainly radiate Christmas with your gay decorations of glittering lights and color. Shopping for local residents should be no task but real fun. You don't have to be a shopper to enjoy a trip downtown. Your stocks this year are the finest offered in many years and the spirit of Christmas has struck early and hard. Each store is the most attractive in its own way. It certainly shouldn't be difficult for residents to shop early and mail early this year.

CIRCUITEER

TO CITY OFFICIALS

GENTLEMEN: This isn't the time of year to start cleaning up lawns but it's a good time to make preparations for cleaning up one next spring. The High-st cemetery seems to have been completely forgotten. Last summer the grounds were covered with weeds. One small section was cleared sufficiently for a funeral and the remainder of the weeds left to grow and go to seed. The city should provide a fund or take some action to have the cemetery kept in better condition. Has someone along the line dodged his duty?

CIRCUITEER

TO ROUNDTOWNERS

CITIZENS: Last week the toy rebuilding campaign of the fire department was covered with gloom. Gifts were arriving slowly and it appeared the campaign would be a failure. During the present week a number of toys have been brought in but the department is far from swamped. They urge persons to bring in old toys as soon as possible so they have an opportunity to repair them. Next Monday is Toy Day in the city schools and they hope to have the cooperation of the teachers and pupils to make the day a big success. Help make some needy child happy on Christmas.

CIRCUITEER

TO CITY MERCHANTS

BUSINESS MEN: Next Tuesday evening you are going to have the opportunity to hear, and see in action, one of the foremost speakers and entertainers in Ohio, or in fact, the central states. He is Dusty Miller who comes here from Wilmington to address the Chamber of Commerce. Miller's addresses are always full of humor but there is a lot of real philosophy in everything he has to say. I earnestly urge you to make arrangements with some director of the organization to attend the meeting. It will do you a lot of good.

CIRCUITEER

TO HOUSEKEEPERS

DEAR LADIES: It has now reached the time of the year where extreme care to prevent fires is necessary. You will be placing your Christmas wreaths and other decorations, and every little thing invites flames. I urge you to exercise utmost care for the safety of yourselves, your children, and your property.

CIRCUITEER

TO LUTHERAN BROTHERHOOD

FELLOWS: Too many congratulations cannot be heaped upon yourselves and your pastors, Dr. G. J. and Rev. G. L. Troutman, for the success of your fine organization. A silver anniversary was observed last evening by your group and the affair, I am told, was a great success. Tribute was paid to the men who helped form and who have been behind the brotherhood ever since its organization. The good your brotherhood has done in the church and in Circleville affairs is unlimited. I urge you to continue policies that have carried you through 25 years of success, and into 25 additional years of prosperity.

TO POLITICIANS

PARTY WORKERS: I read in the papers where some real old-fashioned political activities are just around the corner. Our own mayor's contest has not yet been definitely concluded with the court fight to start in less than two weeks. State and national battles are brewing with state-ments the past week proving that many issues will be determined in the spring. First Charles Sawyer announces he will oppose Governor Davey for the Democratic nomination; then Clarence Brown, popular among Pickaway-co residents, declared he was not going to be in the G. O. P. contest for the job he couldn't win last year but would work for Col. Knox of Chicago; next came Governor Davey's declaration at Kent that he would be in the race and would fight Senator Bulkeley and his "hand picked" choices; and finally John Bricker made an announcement that he would run for governor. This was not news because it has been known for a long while Bricker would run. Pickaway-co, Democratic by about 1,800 votes, will play an important part in the primaries and the eventual election. All party workers are expected to do their parts.

WORLD AT A GLANCE

Japanese bankers are not favorable to Japanese expansion—at least, at such a rapid pace. That is the word from Japan.

Manchoukuo has been a heavy drain. Investments there have been large, returns small.

North China would require millions of yen to develop. It is barren, in many respects, of possibilities.

Besides, any great expansion of industry in these annexed regions would anger Japanese industrialists, who have millions at stake in Japan itself, and do not desire competition from colonies.

Why, then, does Japan proceed? Because there is a virtual military dictatorship. That dictatorship believes in state capitalism.

For example, the South Manchuria railway is called on constantly by the military dictatorship to "invest" in industries in Manchoukuo. Japanese bankers are trying to call a halt, for the railway borrows for the "investments" from the bankers. And there is little chance of getting the money back.

But the bankers have to be careful. There is agitation in Japan against bankers. It is a sort of fascist agitation. And bankers and statesmen who oppose the will of the military may fall victim to the assassin.

PRESIDENT'S PLANS?

No newspaper man knows President Roosevelt's plans. Probably few, if any, of his associates know them. But Bernard Kilgore, star man of the Wall Street Journal, has made a prediction that has stirred financial New York. It is a prediction that the President will "switch back" to the liberals and fight out the election with them.

Kilgore says: "President Roosevelt will make renewed bids for liberal support before the new year is very old and, if one or two more important pieces of New Deal legislation are ruled invalid by the supreme court, may even decide by next summer to make 'modernization' of the constitution an issue in the 1936 campaign."

"While the administration has adopted recovery as one of its main talking points next year and is trying to make the most of the much-advertised breathing spell, this bid for conservative support—if, in fact, it is such a support—is failing to meet with any enthusiastic reception. Business leaders, by and large, are refusing to believe that a swing to the right is under way."

"It won't take the president and his chief advisers forever to find this out..."

TWO HOT SPOTS

Choice for the Republican national convention seems to be developing on Cleveland and choice for the Democratic convention may develop on Philadelphia.

Chief reasons: Republicans believe they have an opportunity to carry Ohio, fourth most populous state, and Ohio has no candidate of its own to push. Democrats believe they have a chance to carry Pennsylvania, second most populous state.

Thus they'll go to their respective battlegrounds to stir up enthusiasm.

CURIOSITY

The banking act, most bitterly fought New Deal measure in congress, probably will be the only major New Deal measure not attacked in the courts.

Reasons: There is no constitutional question concerning the right of congress to regulate money and banking, as far as it desires to go. Secondly, the banks feel safer under a banking act. Thirdly, there are ways of getting around the inhibition against dealing in securities—as observe the securities' trading house formed by Morgan men.

SPENDING AND PRICES

Can prices be maintained without government spending? That is a moot question. This Wall Street Journal view is presented by the Wall Street Journal:

"Adding to the problems of the day is the question of how big a factor government spending has been in the recovery to date. It is still safe to say that 'confidence,' at least confidence in the long term future, has not returned. It would seem an extreme in optimism to believe that the government could withdraw from its commitments in business, banking and agriculture and leave the price level standing where it is. The blood transfusion that will take the government out of business and substitute private capital is an operation sufficiently delicate to make it doubtful if it can be accomplished without some intermediate disturbance."

"The investor, it seems apparent, must be on his guard to determine to his own satisfaction whether government spending has put the market up and if the answer is in the affirmative he must be alert for signs of a contraction in expenditures. In French and German inflations investors were wooed along by rising prices into a belief that the trend would continue after stabilization had set in."

MURDER UPSTAIRS

by ADAM BLISS

READ THIS FIRST:

A middle-aged bachelor, Andrew Darien, has been found murdered in the boarding house of Alice Penny, stabbed to death with a missing carving knife as he slept. The night before Lucy Upham, an old friend, had requested Alice to ask Darien to leave because she disliked him. Before the police, headed by Lieutenant Kirk Larrabee, arrive, Alice finds a hairpin she knows belongs to Janet Bell, her youngest boarder, in Darien's room. She accuses it to her own hair. Larrabee summons Alice from the living room where she and her seven remaining boarders have been waiting. The detective asks about the various boarders and the two servants. Larrabee learns that Darien was generally disliked in the house. The detective asks minute questions about Helen Starmont, a widow and one of the new boarders, and Conrad Withers, a school teacher. (NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY)

CHAPTER 11

"THIS MORNING," Lieutenant Larrabee continued, "Withers was upset at breakfast. Didn't eat his favorite dish. Didn't touch a bite of it. In the living room he was clearly very nervous."

"But there's some other explanation for it," I interrupted. "I'm sure there is."

"We'll see, Mrs. Penny. What did you do after you had let Withers in?"

"I thought I heard a noise in the dining room so I went there to investigate."

"And what was the noise?"

"Nothing, but I went on into the kitchen and found Miss Cambridge heating herself some milk. She often does. Lately she's been troubled with insomnia. Hot milk helps her to sleep. I stayed in the kitchen with her and we talked. When we went upstairs it was 1:20 by the hall clock. I looked at it again."

Larrabee pursed his lips. "Why if Miss Cambridge was in the kitchen did Withers throw a stone to your window on the fourth floor?"

"I don't know. I imagine that when Mr. Withers came to the house the kitchen was dark. I'm sure if Miss Cambridge knew that he was wanting to get in, she would have let him in. She—well, you don't know her, but I do. Once last week when Mr. Withers got in at 4, and she happened to be awake, she told me the first thing in the morning."

"Then, you can't see the lights in the kitchen from the front or side of the house, where Mr. Withers would come along from the street car."

"How do you know he came home on the street car?"

"He hasn't a car."

"You didn't say anything to Miss Cambridge about why you had come downstairs?"

"No, I thought it was none of her business. And it hadn't been."

"You accompanied Miss Cambridge upstairs, then. Was the second floor dark when you reached there?"

"Yes. On the third floor there was a light under Mr. Withers' door, and under Mr. Talbot's—that was all."

"Miss Cambridge's room was dark when you came up," he asked.

"Yes, she's very careful about electricity. On the third floor, I turned on the back stairs, and went right to my room, and to bed again."

Larrabee wrote some more in his notebook, and then put a cross after Mr. Withers' name. I hated to see it go there.

"Mrs. Penny, I noticed your front door has a Yale lock, and a night latch. When you went to bed, after you had looked over the house, did you turn the night latch?"

"Yes."

"I remembered it perfectly."

"When you came downstairs to let in Withers, was it still turned?"

"It was."

"And Withers was the only one in the house who went out last night?"

"I think so. Oh, Mrs. Starmont

Delia screamed when she saw the knife.

probably took her usual walk, but she gets in by 10. Usually when someone plans to go out in the evening, everybody at the dinner table knows it. Last night there was nothing said about anybody going out. Mr. Withers never mentions when he goes out, neither does Mrs. Starmont say anything about her walks, but the others do. We're sort of a family, you know."

Larrabee seemed to think there was something funny about this. He laughed. "And one of your precious family stuck a knife into Andrew Darien."

I flinched at that.

"Do you know anything about Darien's will? To whom he left his money?"

"I'm sure I don't. Mr. Darien never confided any of his business to me. Mr. Hemingway might know, but I don't. I don't even know the name of his lawyer."

"I do, Mrs. Penny. That'll be all for you, now, I think."

"I rose to go, but he motioned for me to stay in my seat. 'I'll want you to stay until I talk to Delia Randall, if you please.'"

So I sat there, and wondered what Delia would do when she saw the knife. For she was going to see it.

It was right on the desk where she couldn't miss it.

Larrabee went to the door, opened it, and told the officer in the hall, whom I afterwards discovered to be Sergeant Burke, to call Delia Randall.

Delia screamed when she saw the knife, and it took me five minutes to get her anywhere near back to her senses. I'd expected it, and I wasn't surprised, but Lieutenant Larrabee seemed surprised.

It was a mean trick making the poor girl look at that knife after what she had seen upstairs, during breakfast, and I told Larrabee so. Still I was glad he had let me stay in the room to comfort her, for she was badly shaken. When I finally got her calmed down some, he started with his questions.

"Delia, is this the knife you put on the buffet last night?"

She couldn't talk yet, but she nodded, a pitiful miserable nod.

"Don't look at the knife, Delia," I said quietly. "Look out of the window." That was what I had been doing all the time. Lieutenant Larrabee had been interrogating me. She took my advice.

"Tell me all about it—start with what you did after dinner, please."

Delia's voice was weak, and her red hands were twisting and untwisting her apron. Her eyes were glassy and brownish wisps of hair were falling over her face. I always have a time getting Delia to keep her hair tidy. She has such a mop of it, and it's long in the bargain. The big knot at the back of her neck was almost down.

"After dinner I did the dishes. Washed 'em, as I always do, sir. Washed the knife with the silver."

"Yes?" Larrabee urged, for she had halted abruptly. "You washed the knife."

"An' I was careful to wipe it good afterwards, like Mrs. Penny tells me because it's a good knife." She gulped noisily, and I moved my chair over closer and patted her arm.

"And then?"

"An' then, when the dishes and silver and pans was all washed and everything put away but the silver, which goes in the dining room buffet in a special drawer, I sharpened the knife."

"You sharpened the knife before you took it into the dining room?" Larrabee asked quickly.

"Yes, sir. I always do at night before I put the knife away—so's it'll be sharp when it's used again. Mrs. Penny always likes it sharp, sir. And the stone is in the kitchen drawer, so I sharpen it there. I got it nice and sharp in a few minutes, and put it on the tray with the other silver, an' carried the tray through the pass pantry an' into the dining room, puttin' the tray on the buffet like I usually do. I'd put away most of the silver—and there was only the carving knife."

She gulped again. "An' the big fork that don't match it, but goes with the old carving knife which we use in the kitchen since we got a new knife, when Grace calls me."

"What did Grace want?"

"Grace wants to tell me that she's going upstairs. She's got a headache, and will I look up when I'm through."

"How long did this conversation with Grace last?"

"Why, sir, maybe a few minutes, maybe more. I got Grace some sody and put it in a glass with hot water for her, and waited until she'd drunk it, and went up the back stairs. That's how long it took, sir. I ain't sure."

"Then you went back into the dining room and found the knife gone?"

"I did, sir. Spirited away, so I went in to tell Mrs. Penny, thinkin' she'd want to know. The fork was still on the tray, but the knife—it was gone, sir."

SCOTT'S SCRAPBOOK

by R. J. SCOTT

BRILLIANT, BRILLIANT!

The ambitious young applicant for a civil service post was taking his examinations. All came out all right for him until he came to the general knowledge test.

This puzzled him for a while, but at last he thought of a way out of the difficulty. "Give the quantity of coal exported from U. S. A. in any stated year," read the question. With a sigh of relief he put down his answer: "In 1492, none."

The folly of growing the same crop on the same land for several successive years was noted by the Romans, but the attention was first called to the value of crop rotations in 1777 in a treatise by Dickson, of Edinburgh, Scotland.

RED AND BLACK, BOURNEVILLE '5' TANGLE TONIGHT

Landrum May Be Without Services of Henry for Game With Unknown Foe

The Red and Black cage team in its new uniforms will meet an unknown quantity this evening in the Athletic club gymnasium when Bourneville, usually a pretty good Ross-co class B outfit, invades the local court.

The preliminary between the reserve teams of the two schools will start at 7:30 with the varsity encounter about an hour later.

Bourneville will visit Circleville for the first time in many years, if it ever played here, Coach Jack Landrum doesn't know what to expect and neither do his boys. It is almost certain the contest will be interesting.

Henry May Be Out

Landrum today was not certain what his starting lineup would be. Don Henry, stellar guard, is working and it was feared he would not be able to take part until after Christmas. In that case either Griffith, Friley, Plum or Jackson will probably see service. It seems that Melson will be at center, Styers and Andrews at the forwards and Jenkins at one guard. Henry played a guard last week and it will be for this position, if there is a vacancy, that the scramble will probably take place.

The Red and Black forwards did not play up to snuff in the New Holland game. They did not cut, feint, or show the ball handling ability expected of them. They may hit tonight. We hope so.

Meet Jackson Quintet

Saturday evening the Jackson-twp team, victorious in two out of three games played in the county loop, will invade the CAC hardwood. Reserve teams will again open the festivities at 7:30. Jackson, under Coach Bob Terhune, has now more games than in the entire season a year ago. Circleville is expected to win but it will be only after a pretty good chase.

Ray Coleman, former Ohio Wesleyan track star, will referee the Friday game while Leo Urdill, Ohio State tackle at the end, Elmer Marek, Howard Kriss, etc. were performing will handle the Saturday game.

IRISH PRODUCE HIGH SCORING CAGE TEAM

SOUTH BEND, Dec. 6—Notre Dame's basketball team, off to continue the fine season of the football team, has rung up 172 points in three basketball games to date. The team has beaten Albion, 62-26; St. Mary's of Minnesota, 45-22; and Kalamazoo college, 65-17.

Johnny Hopkins and John Moir, forwards, the latter a sophomore, have been the high scorers, Hopkins getting 17 points in 29 minutes in one game and Moir, 17 points in 20 minutes in another.

MERLE WENDT CHOSEN

CHICAGO, Dec. 6—Merle Wendt, captain-elect, is the only Ohio State man to make the Chicago American's all-Conference team.

Pickaway, Williamsport Play County's Feature

Several Fast Games Expected in Class B Circles; Ashville-Monroe Girls to Be Close

The feature of tonight's games in the county league will probably be played at Pickaway-twp between the Williamsport teams coached by Emil Haney meeting Carl Burger's Plainsmen.

Both teams have been doing well, although Williamsport was chinned by New Holland last week. Burger's boys have developed a lot and may win a game on their home court.

The girls teams will also vie for honors with the results a toss-up.

Walnut, considerably weaker than usual after losing an entire varsity five last year, moves over to New Holland where it will possibly lose a game. The girls may help matters, however, by knocking off a victory. You never can tell, though, because those New Holland girls can play good ball, too.

Saltcreek makes a long trip to Scioto, Ashville treks over to Darby and should knock off the boys, last year's tournament champions, but the Harrison-co girls may meet their Waterloo.

Washington and Perry play on the Atlanta court, while Jackson and Monroe play at Williamsport. Monroe has not yet lost a game under Forrest Brown's tutelage.

PLAY BEFORE 483.018

SOUTH BEND, Ind., Dec. 6—Notre Dame varsity football team played before 483,019 fans in nine games the past season.

The sting of the hornet is most violent. More poison is injected into the wound than in the case of the other insects.

About This And That In Many Sports

A Sportsmanship Lesson

This is addressed, not to any member of the high school cage team nor to any athlete in Hawaii or points west, but it is a fact that no athletic team, say a basketball team, can survive if there are only five men on the squad—It is necessary that a coach substitute the way he believes is wisest; to pick the athletes he thinks will do his team most good—Often, as a result, some cagers, ball players or pinochle artists, believe they haven't been done right by—Often a game will be close; a combination will be doing well, stopping another team's best plays, and the mentor will refrain making substitutions—Isn't it better for a high school athlete, sitting on the hard wood of the bench, to grit teeth and say to himself: "Watch me the rest of this week, if I don't win myself a first team place it won't be my fault," than to sulk and threaten to quit ***

Fullerton's New Yorkers

This probably won't interest anyone but Bob Newhall—and he won't read it—but here is the all-time all-star New York baseball team as picked by Hugh Fullerton, Hillsboro and Columbus, for the Sporting News: first base, Lou Gehrig; second base, Larry Doyle; third base, Jerry Denny; shortstop, Travis Jackson; left field, Babe Ruth; center field, Mike Donlin; right field, Ross Young; catchers, Roger Bresnahan and Chief Meyers; pitchers, Christy Mathewson, Amos Rusie, Jack Chesbro, and Art Nehf  How about Frank Frisch at second base? ***

Indians Offering Hurlers

Cleveland Indians are offering Monte Pearson and Oral Hildebrand as bait for a some ball players ***

Landman Is Still Good

We were put on the pan by a couple of guys, "H. O. G.", for saying Everett Landman of New Holland is a good center—The panning came after Tuesday evening's game when Landman scored only four points—All we have to say is: Watch the scores of other games in which Landman plays this year—Coach Jack Landrum of the high school watched Landman at Williamsport and formed his defense to help put the dampers on the big fellow—He wasn't covered by one man but by a couple—Ah well, it's all in fun anyway, isn't it? ***

Two Youths Win Numerals

It was good news to learn that Jim Scoles and George Speakman, Ashville and Circleville athletes respectively, have received freshman numerals, have their football ability at Ohio State—Sweaters and numerals were given to 98 boys—A pretty nice squad—some of them will become great football players, undoubtedly, in a couple of years ***

Wouldn't This Be Nice?

Here's an imaginary football schedule for Ohio State and we wonder, if Ohio went through the season undefeated, if it would receive any recognition outside of Ohio:

Oct. 3, Pittsburgh; Oct. 10, Minnesota; Oct. 17, Notre Dame; Oct. 24, Princeton; Oct. 31, Colgate; Nov. 7, Alabama; Nov. 14, Southern Methodist; Nov. 21, Stanford; Nov. 28, Army—Wouldn't that be a honey?  Then someone would say Ohio picked a soft spot before the Alabama game ***

THEATRES

AT THE CLIFTONA

Although Ginger Rogers' initial solo starring picture, "In Person", is essentially a light comedy-drama, it also presents her distinctive dancing and singing.

Ginger Rogers' rise to her present position at the top of the feminine dancing stars was achieved through her skilful feet and a vital personality. Winning a Charleston contest in her home town, her striking ability landed her in such Broadway shows as "Top Speed" and "Girl Crazy." Her extraordinarily rapid rise to an actor's goal—solo stardom—has been in great part due to her sparkling work as co-star with Fred Astaire in "Flying Down to Rio," "The Gay Divorcee," "Roberta" and "Top Hat."

As an extra attraction the Cliftona will show Rear Admiral Byrd's "LITTLE AMERICA."

AT THE CIRCLE

One of the many sprightly love scenes between Constance Bennett and Frederic March was being filmed for "The Affairs of Cellini," their first co-starring vehicle for Joseph M. Schenck and Darryl F. Zanuck's 20th Century Pictures, depicting the colorful amorous es-

ITALIANS BOMB AMERICAN HOSPITAL

TEN PLANES RAID DESSYE; 100 DIE; HAILE IS UNHURT

Entire City Leveled By Murderous Attack; Red Cross Signs Ignored

SELAISIE FLEES CASTLE

Correspondents, Fretting Because of Inactivity, Receive Taste of War

By H. R. KNICKERBOCKER
International News Service Staff Correspondent
(Copyright, 1935, by International News Service)

DESSYE, Ethiopia, Dec. 6.—(INS)—Ten Italian bombing planes roared over Dessye in a surprise raid between eight and nine o'clock this morning and dropped scores of incendiary and high explosive bombs, killing and wounding an undetermined number and virtually leveling the city, headquarters for Emperor Haile Selassie and his northern armies. Upwards of 100 were estimated to have been killed and wounded in the sudden bombardment, including Americans and Europeans. Bombs were rained ruthlessly upon the American Seventh Day Adventist hospital.

Selassie Unscathed
The emperor himself narrowly escaped death when his palace was damaged by the bombardment.

The army encampment was destroyed as the Italian flyers apparently scored hits on all their objectives.

Dessye's flimsy buildings were eaten up by flames which spread rapidly in the wake of the incendiary bombs.

Bodies of many of those killed and wounded by the bombs themselves were eaten up by the raging fire. This added to the difficulties of definitely ascertaining the number of casualties.

The American hospital was gutted by the bombs, despite the Red Crosses painted on its roofs. Many of the invalids within were seriously wounded. It was believed some were killed.

An American nurse, Patra Hooving, suffered a broken leg. Many of the foreign journalists were wounded as our encampment was destroyed.

First Real Taste
Emperor Selassie got his first real taste of war.

When his palace was bombed he and his Ras Makonnen, his minister of the interior, dashed out, escaping unhurt, and hurried to the wrecked hospital.

There they saw a stream of wounded being carried to the shell building, being treated with feverish haste by the few doctors available. Emergency operations were being performed under the most difficult circumstances.

Dessye was virtually destroyed, its flimsy building rapidly turned

CITY EMPLOYEES TO GET NOVEMBER PAY CHECKS

Announcement of the tax distribution was good news to city firemen, policemen, the janitor of the Memorial hall and the health clerk.

Friday morning they received their pay checks for the month of November. Their salaries for the first two weeks of November, due on the fifteenth, were held up until the distribution was made because of the condition of the city's funds.

All other city officials are paid monthly. Miss Lillian Young, city auditor, reported payroll checks amounting to $1,708.64 were issued.

HOUSE APPROVES TAX ON INCOME; SENATE WARNED

Disputed Measure Sent to Upper House; Defeat May Mean Sales Tax Fight

COLUMBUS, Dec. 6.—(INS)—"Accept the state income tax or re-enactment of the three per cent sales tax will be threatened."

This, in effect, was the warning of proponents of the Ward state income tax measure, which passed the House for the second time this year 85 to 33, as the measure was sent to the senate for approval today.

The measure of Rep. P. E. Ward (R), Chardon, estimated to produce $20,000,000 annually starting in 1937, assesses all earned incomes on a graduated scale from one to seven per cent, starting with exemptions of $1,000 above federal income tax levels.

Defeated by Senate

It is the second time the lower house has sent income tax to the senate. The first trip, during the regular session, resulted in the death of the measure.

This time, House leaders voted the income tax before the legislature has attempted to re-enact the sales tax, which will expire on Dec. 31 this year.

Neither Ward, nor any other supporter of the income tax has openly threatened to fight the sale, tax unless the senate passes the income measure, but collectively, the proponents of the measure let it be known, unofficially, that the fate of the sales tax may be in doubt if the income tax is killed again in the senate.

The two houses joined hands.

COLUMBUS, O., Dec. 6.—(INS)—A police cruiser officer, Leo Hoffman, today shot and killed a man identified as Charles Bowman, 25, after he was alleged to have smashed and looted a downtown jewelry store window.

The man was pronounced dead upon arrival at a hospital. Loot taken from the jewelry store window was said to consist of $100. in watches and jewelry.

MARTINS FERRY, Dec. 6.—(INS)—Police said today they doubt that James Henderson Gault, 20, under guard at the hospital here with a bullet wound in his shoulder, was involved in the Franklin National bank hold-up at Franklin late yesterday.

MARTINS FERRY, Dec. 6.—(INS)—James Henderson Gault, 20, with a gunshot wound in the left shoulder, was held under guard in city hospital here today in connection with the bank robbery at Franklin, O., in which a bandit was killed and his two companions escaped.

Highway patrolmen said Gault told conflicting stories about how he received the shoulder wound. One of the two Franklin bandits who fled in commandeered automobiles was wounded in the left shoulder.

Yorkville Resident
Gault said he lived at Yorkville.

COURT-ST PAVING JOB IS RESUMED; CHANGE DETOUR

Repaving of Court-st at Ohio was started at noon today by WPA employees.

Twenty-five men, recently transferred to the canal project when the paving was delayed because of bad weather, were brought back to the city Friday morning, making a total of about 50 men now on the Court-st work.

A second carload of asphalt filler for the Court-st job arrived Thursday afternoon. A new detour was put into effect Friday morning. Traffic is being detoured at Mount-st and Edison-ave to Pickaway-st. Previously the detour was extended covered Ohio, Mount and Scioto-sts. As soon as the intersection at Ohio and Court-st is completed the old detour will be used.

LINER BREMEN GUARDED FROM BOMB PLOT REPORT

NEW YORK, Dec. 6.—(INS)—In order to forestall a possible bomb plot, a half dozen police launches and coast guard ships, armed with machine guns, steamed by the side of the North German Lloyd liner Bremen as she proceeded from quarantine to her Hudson river pier early today.

The scene was an unprecedented one in New York harbor, the police and coast guard ships providing what almost amounted to a wartime convey for the huge liner.

The ship lifted anchor at quarantine shortly after 7 a. m. At the North German Lloyd docks at the foot of West Forty-sixth-st, several hundred policemen with drawn guns and special company guards stood ready for any emergency.

POSSEMEN KILL 'FED' PRISONER

Dan Heady Shot Down; Two Others Fugitives Wounded By Officers

WEATHERS, Okla., Dec. 6.—(INS)—Trapped by a posse of 25 heavily armed officers, Dan Heady, escaped federal prisoner, was killed and two others were wounded, one probably fatally, in a furious gun battle in a farm house near here early today.

The wounded men, Leonard

Short, shot near the heart, and Dewey Gilmore, were given medical attention. Short was expected to die.

Dan Garrett, convicted prisoner who escaped from the Muskogee, Okla., city jail with four "Irish" O'Malley gangsters, escaped the withering fire poured into the farmhouse by possemen, fleeing afoot. Officers expected to capture him shortly, they said.

The posse, led by Allen Stanfield, Deputy U. S. Marshal, and Sheriff Tom Jordan, received a tip from a farmer from whom the desperadoes had demanded shelter.

Leading the posse, Stanfield, who with two state prison guards had captured Russell Cooper, another of the escaped federal prisoners, yesterday, rushed to the farmhouse.

In the gun battle that followed, Heady was shot and killed, and Short was probably fatally wounded, with a bullet near his heart. Gilmore was injured slightly.

The men had been the object of an intense search by state, federal, county authorities and national guardsmen since their escape from the city jail at Muskogee, Okla.

RIFE RESIDENCE IN WALNUT-TWP SWEEP BY FIRE

Estimated at $10,000 as 16-Room Country Home is Leveled

DISCOVERED UNDER ROOF

Township School Children in Futile Effort to Combat Flames

The 16-room farm home of Mr. and Mrs. Marcus Rife, east of the Walnut-twp school building, was destroyed by flames Thursday afternoon at a loss estimated roughly at $10,000.

The blaze was discovered about 1 p. m. and is believed to have started either on the roof or in the attic. The fire departments of Ashville and Circleville were notified but neither could answer the calls. A call was then made to the school building and furnishings on the first floor were saved with aid of school children. Mrs. Rife reported clothing and practically everything on the second floor was destroyed.

Several In Residences

Mrs. Rife and her daughter, Mary Catherine, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Waggoner of Springfield, and Mrs. Cornelia, husband, Ed Amanda were at the home when the fire started. Mr. Rife and his son, Howard, were working on another farm when notified of the fire.

The home was entirely of frame construction and all 16 rooms were furnished. The loss is partially covered by insurance.

Mr. and Mrs. Rife are staying at the home of Fimon Rife, Mr. Rife's brother, until they complete their future plans.

City firemen were called to the Winner canning plant Thursday afternoon to extinguish a blaze in a truck parked in the warehouse. The damage was estimated by firemen at $10.

POWER ELECTED NEW PRESIDENT OF MEN'S GROUP

Lutheran Brotherhood Passes
Twenty-Fifth Year; Hon-
ors Charter Members

Trinity Lutheran Brotherhood celebrated its twenty-fifth anniversary Thursday evening.

This important event in the history of the organization was opened by the entire audience singing "Work for the Night is Coming" this being followed by the reading of the 125th Psalm and prayer by Dr. G. J. Troutman, then the consecration hymn "Take My Life and Let It Be" was sung.

Owing to the removal of Secretary Marvin Yerke from this city to Columbus, Charles Walters was selected as secretary for the balance of the year.

Bower New President

The election of officers for the year 1936 was held, resulting in the selection of the following: president, Luther Bower; vice president, Charles Walters; treasurer, R. D. Good; recording secretary, Ludwig Haacker; reporting secretary, J. D. Hummel and pianist, Carl Palm.

During the intermission, Charles Walters and his committee of ten members, served a lunch of vegetable soup, cheese sandwiches and coffee, after which the meeting was again called to order by President Harry Bartholomew, who presented Dr. G. J. Troutman as chairman of the program.

In his timely remarks, Dr. Troutman told of how the Men's Missionary conference held in Columbus in February twenty-five years ago thoroughly discussed the matter of organization of brotherhoods in the various churches of this district, with the result that he carried the message to Circleville and soon thereafter Trinity Lutheran brotherhood was organized by sixteen charter members and has continued to function and grow for the past quarter of a century.

Nine Still Active

Of the sixteen charter members, nine are still living and active in the organization.

E. Sensesbrenner served as temporary chairman at the organization meeting and Jacob Merz was elected president and Frank Mason secretary.

Dr. Troutman first introduced Carl C. Leist who took as his subject, "A Tribute to Our Charter Members," fittingly bestowing honor to whom honor is due, closing his tribute and that of the brotherhood in poetical lines of his own composition and in turn commending the nine living members, Dr. G. J. Troutman, W. E. Crist, Edward Sensesbrenner, J. H. Helwagen, Frank Mason, D. E. Mason, William Heffner H. S. Heffner and W. F. Heffner for the great part they have played in organization and continued support in what is now generally regarded as not only the best brotherhood in this district but in the State of Ohio. Mr. Leist also bestowed his flowers on the eight charter members who have passed on to the Greater Brotherhood above.

J. H. Helwagen was next introduced and told of "Some of the Accomplishments of the Brotherhood in the past twenty-five years."

Many Memories Recalled

E. Sensesbrenner has always been recognized as the master mind in writing brotherhood bulletins and again at this session maintained his reputation in that respect, taking as his theme "The Joys I Have Found in Our Brotherhood." Pleasing were many of the memories that he brought back to the members in attendance, reciting many things that had almost entirely faded from many minds.

Charles L. Mack was the last speaker on the regularly set program and from his experience and interest he gave many good suggestions under his topic "How to Improve Our Brotherhood in the Future."

The interspersing songs "Long Ago" and "Far Away" were appropriately selected and the singing was inspiring.

After the regularly set program was over, the meeting was thrown open for suggestions and remarks and W. E. Crist, E. F. Wolf, C. A. Leist, Harry Bartholomew and others brought back to mind many of the memories of past accomplishments of the brotherhood and offered suggestions for the future that undoubtedly will be employed and be of much benefit.

All in all it was a very fitting ending to a quarter century of progress in brotherhood work and will undoubtedly be an inspiration to the greater things in the future.

Closing session of the old year will be held on Thursday evening, Dec. 19, the program in honor of the newly elected officers and lunch to be served by the outgoing officers.

Hunted After Jail Break at Muskogee, Okla.

WITH bloodhounds leading the way, penitentiary guards, peace officers and volunteers took up the hunt of five escaping bank robbers who fled into the mountain wilds near Clayton, Okla., after a daring break from jail at Muskogee. Ed Blackburn, one of the escaping prisoners, was killed, and Ben Bolton, chief of Muskogee detectives, critically shot while attempting to stop the getaway. Three convicts who got away are shown above. They are, left to right, Dewey Gilmore, alleged leader of the gang; Russell Cooper, and Leonard Short.

Radio Star Frightened Audience in Wierd Role

Nelson Eddy made up for the role of "Amonasro", the king of Ethiopia, in "Aida".

"Amonasro" Part in "Aida" Gave Nelson Eddy Stage Debut; Sings Many Numbers Monday

Nelson Eddy, sensational star of stage, screen and radio, takes an unusual interest in the course of events in Ethiopia. In fact he was once in the King of Ethiopia's shoes.

That was twelve years ago when he made his first stage debut. Having won a singing competition in Philadelphia he was awarded the part of "Amonasro" in a presentation of the opera "Aida" at the Academy of Music.

"When they saw me make my first entrance the customers may have been as scared as I was," says Eddy, referring to the fierce make-up and costume of the part, "but I doubt it. It was a good thing my face was hidden with hair and makeup, because I was white as a sheet. Anyway, I got a good reception and it encouraged me to adopt a singing career. So when Ethiopia is mentioned I am always interested. I know what Haile Selassie must feel like."

Besides working on a new motion picture "Rose Marie," Eddy is appearing on a radio program with Miss Marget Speaks, young American soprano, and William Daly's noted orchestra. Next Monday evening he will be heard over the NBC-WEAF network at 8:30 E.S.T.

The program includes the following songs by Eddy: "The Land of the Sky Blue Water," "Shade of the Sheltering Palm," "Estrellita," "Vision Fugitive" from Massenet's "Herodiade" and a duet with Miss Speaks, "Mira Di Acerbe Lagrime" from the opera "Il Trovatore." Miss Speaks and the Choral Symphony in "Chinese Lullaby," "Tannhauser" by Daly's Symphonic String Orchestra and a rendition of the negro spiritual "Steal Away" completes the program.

Saturday, December 7

Lehigh University Glee Club will be heard in a program of songs from Philadelphia over the CBS-WABC network at 12 noon EST.

Frank Dailey and his orchestra will be heard on the CBS-WABC network at 5 p. m. EST (4 CST) Following will be Elsie Thompson at the organ, with Russell Dorr, at 5:30 p. m. EST.

Representative John B. Hollister, Republican, of Ohio, will speak on the Public Opinion program over the CBS-WABC network at 10:30 p. m. EST. His topic will be New Deal Tinkering with Money.

HOFFMAN'S VISIT IN HAUPTMANN'S CELL EXPLAINED

New Jersey Governor Wants to Prove Bruno Either Guilty
or Not Guilty

TRENTON, N. J., Dec. 6—(INS)—Governor Harold Hoffman, did not visit Bruno Richard Hauptmann in his death house cell in any effort to "whitewash" the Bronx carpenter.

Instead his dramatic interview with the dour German was part of a final move by the state of New Jersey to establish once and for all that the doomed player of the Lindbergh baby was not the victim of a marriage of justice. This was the view taken in official circles close to the governor's office today.

Because of the international interest in the Lindbergh kidnapping and murder, it was pointed out, official New Jersey views with horror the barest possibility that Hauptmann after going to his death in the electric chair, might be proven an innocent man, or even partly innocent man.

Report Trade Offered
One report today linked the death house visit of the governor to a reputed offer of the imprisonment and $10,000 to Hauptmann if he would make a "full confession" of his part in the "crime of the century" and involve a possible "accomplice."

This offer, credited to a high New Jersey official, is not, the governor said, was supposedly made on October 10, exactly one week before Hoffman made his unprecedented call at the death house and listened over an hour to Hauptmann's attempt to explain away the mass of evidence piled up against him at his trial in Flemington.

It was made clear that Governor Hoffman in his anxiety to get to the bottom of the case is not ignoring three apparently iron-clad items of evidence against Hauptmann. These are:

1. The presence of a large part of the ransom money, carefully hidden, on his property.
2. The tracing of the wood in the kidnap ladder to a Bronx lumber yard, where Hauptmann had worked, and the matching of wood from the ladder to wood taken from Bruno's attic.
3. The testimony of qualified experts that Hauptmann wrote the ransom notes.

Additional details of the governor's remarkable parley with Hauptmann on the night of October 17 came to light today.

Given Encouragement
The executive, it was said, gave the carpenter this much encouragement:

"I give you my solemn word of honor as governor of this state that you will receive every consideration possible if your story is true."

IL DUCE WARNS PREMIER LAVAL

Italy's Leader Withdraws from
Stresa "Front"

MILAN, Dec. 6—(INS)—Practically announcing Italy's withdrawal from the Stresa "front" against Germany, Popolo D'Italia today warned Britain and France that Italy will not fight at their side in a European conflagration.

Popolo D'Italia was founded by Premier Benito Mussolini, and the editorial was certainly either written or inspired by him.

"Europe, in its hour of torment, will not have the moral right to ask salvation from Italy," the paper declared.

Warning that the League of Nations' economic sanctions had destroyed chances of Italy's collaboration, the paper continued:

"History will continue after this siege Europe, which sought peace at Rome through the four-power pact, and successive accords, has thrown herself into disequilibrium."

"Without Italy, Europe will not have peace."

Foreign observers were inclined to interpret the severe tone of the editorial as a warning to Premier Pierre Laval of France that his cooperation in sanctions is breaking up his pet policy of European collaboration.

Cheers for Calumet's New 10¢ Can—
and perfect, never-fail baking!

"I never have baking troubles with Calumet—and I save, too!" says Mrs. K. J. Tobin, 880 Avalon St., Memphis, Tenn.

"Your new 10¢ can makes me feel very thrifty!" says Mrs. Nancy E. Williams, 499 Morland Ave., Atlanta, Ga.

"It's real quality at a saving!" says Mrs. K. J. Tobin, of Beverly Hills, Ill. "I've never had a baking failure with Calumet."

Why does Calumet give such "luck"? Why is it different from other baking powders?

Calumet combines two distinct leavening actions. A quick one for the mixing bowl—a slower one for the oven. This Double-Action is so perfectly balanced and controlled that it produces perfect leavening. Calumet is a product of General Foods.

All Calumet prices are lower! Calumet is now selling at the lowest prices in its history...The regular price of the Full-Pound Can is now only 25¢! And ask to see the new, big 10¢ can—a lot of good baking for a dime—with Calumet, the Double-Acting Baking Powder.

SENATE DEFEAT FOR MILK BILL IS THREATENED

Bittinger Casts Deciding Ballot in House as Measure is Re-Considered

COLUMBUS, Dec. 6.—(INS)—Saved from another defeat by the vote of the speaker, J. Freer Bittinger, Ashland, the Carey-Creedy bill providing for state control of the milk industry went to the state senate today for its final test.

The measure creating a four-member commission to control the milk industry for three years, passed the House late yesterday 69 to 49, receiving one more vote than the number necessary for passage.

Bittinger, presiding over the assembly, cast the deciding vote, an unusual procedure since the speaker seldom casts a ballot except in case of a tie. Rep. John A. Dombek (D), Cleveland, originally voted against the bill, but changed his vote after Bittinger cast the deciding ballot.

May End Long Fight

Passage of the bill climaxed a five-month battle for control legislation, with Representatives Carey (R), Ashtabula-co; Deibel (R), Medina-co and Carey (D), Lucas-co, leading the proponents.

The bill was defeated earlier in the week, receiving 62 votes to 58 against the proposal, six shy of the necessary number. It was brought up again on the motion of Rep. William Boyd (D), Cleveland, for reconsideration.

Rep. Willis I. Cory (R), Fosteria; Rep. Ed Rose (R), Akron and Rep. Carl F. Wintzer (D), Wapakoneta, led the opposition, but dissenters gave way to the increasing pressure from farmer groups enough to permit the bill to pass.

It is headed for another defeat in the senate, however, observers believe, since members of the upper body once before turned the proposal down and a majority of the senators today indicated they still oppose regulation of the milk industry.

Guarantee Prices

The bill, in its present form, would guarantee farmers producers 45 per cent of the market price of milk as a minimum during summer months and 50 per cent during the winter, when forage is scarce. This provision was inserted on an amendment by Rep. W. P. Van Ness (R), Mechanicsburg.

Salaries of members of the state commission, who would be named by the governor, are set at $3,000 annually. The price-fixing features of the bill would terminate at the end of two years, although commissioners would continue in office for three years.

DIET AND HEALTH

Effectiveness of Soap And Water as Antiseptic

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

THERE ARE two great sources of communicable disease—man himself, and the lower animal. But since most of man's epidemic diseases are peculiar to himself, man is the greatest source and reservoir of human infection.

Man is Man's greatest foe in this regard. So says Dr. Rosenau in his textbook on "Preventive Medicine and Hygiene."

These communicable diseases enter the body almost exclusively by one of three routes: through the mouth, through the respiratory system—the nose, throat and lungs—and, third, through the skin.

The first group, those that enter through the mouth and digestive tract, can be carried to the mouth by the hands as well as in the food. The second group, those that enter through the respiratory tract, can be carried there by the hands as well as in the air we breathe. The third group, those which enter through the skin, are, in most cases, carried to the infected area by scratching or curious fingers.

On all counts, it is evidently important to observe the advice of Dr. Shirley Wynne, former commissioner of health, New York City, when he says "Don't Spare the Soap!"

Soap Antiseptic

No antiseptic is effective, except in first-aid injuries, without the use of soap and water. Soap often has been shown to be one of the best antiseptics available—not only does it remove germs, but it actually kills them by its presence. The reason that no antiseptic is effective without the use of preparatory cleaning is that germs tend to be caught in grease and oil and dirt—in the

Bank Robbers Held

TWO Kenton, O., farm boys, Harold Curmean, 19, top, and Raymond McMahon, 20, below, face long prison terms for alleged admitted participation in a $1,883 robbery of the Mount Blanchard, O., bank and a filling station. According to Lieut. John W. Kirchbaum, district commander of the state highway patrol, who arrested McMahon in a night club on the tip of an automobile dealer, the two youths confessed.

COUNTY IS SURVEYING ROAD FOR AID PROJECT

Employees of the surveyor's office are making a survey of the Five Points-Palestine road to be improved as a federal aid highway project. The improvement will cover 6.3 miles and is listed at $27,000.

This project is the secondary state route project recently approved by John J. Jaster, Jr., state highway director.

The bureau of standards says that the highest temperatures of artificial heat are attained by electric arcs, with exception of instantaneous effects of condenser discharge.

BROTHERHOOD TO HELP BLIND SELL FLOWERS IN STREETS SATURDAY

Permission has been given the American Brotherhood for the Blind to sell flowers on the streets Saturday in the interests of the Brotherhood activities in behalf of the sightless.

Among those sponsoring the affair are Mayor William B. Cady, Rev. and Mrs. E. S. Toensmeier, Miss Mary Wilder, Rev. Fr. J. J. Herman, Mrs. W. W. Robinson, and Rev. and Mrs. Herman Sayre.

Miss Catherine T. Smith will be in charge of the sale and finances. Headquarters will be in the Chamber of Commerce rooms, where supplies will be given to those who wish to help.

During the past fifteen years the American Brotherhood for the Blind has rendered nation-wide service to the sightless having published over 10,000 volumes in Braille and placing these books free in libraries that circulate books for the Blind.

The Brotherhood issues a monthly "All Story Braille Magazine," the only one of its kind in the United States. It circulates free to Braille readers in every state and seventeen foreign countries. The public library here has the magazine.

The organization is supported entirely by friendly contributions and "flower sales."

The flowers are to be sold on the streets for whatever anyone is willing to give.

There will be four lovely prizes and movie passes, generously given by friends and movie managers as "contest incentive" for the youthful workers.

The first prize will be two one dollar bills; second, a beauty kit; third, woolen scarf; fourth, dainty compact, all generously given by friends of the blind. Purchasers are requested to display the flower to avoid a second appeal.

Poems That Live

PLAYGROUND

In summer I am very glad
We children are so small,
For we can see a thousand things
That men can't see at all.

They don't know much about the moss
And all the stones they pass;
They never lie and play among
The forests in the grass:

They walk about a long way off;
And, when we're at the sea,
Let father stoop as best he can
He can't find things like me.

But, when the snow is on the ground
And all the puddles freeze,
I wish that I were very tall,
High up among the trees.

It always works

Just do what hospitals do, and the doctors insist on. Use a good liquid laxative, and aid Nature to restore clocklike regularity without strain or ill effect.

A liquid can always be taken in gradually reduced doses. Reduced dosage is the real secret of relief from constipation.

Ask a doctor about this. Ask your druggist how very popular Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin has become. It gives the right kind of help, and right amount of help. Taking a little less each time, gives the bowels a chance to act of their own accord, until they are moving regularly and thoroughly without any help at all.

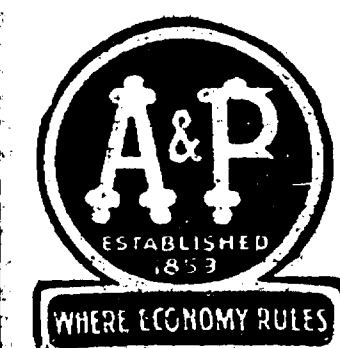

Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin contains senna and cascara—both natural laxatives that form no habit. The action is gentle, but sure. It will relieve any sluggishness or bilious condition due to constipation without upset.

GRAHAM, TOO, CHARGES IRREGULARITIES IN ELECTION

ANSWER ON FILE AS COURT FIGHT LOOMS DEC. 16

Republican Mayor-Elect Declares Cady Failed to File Bond With Action

Allegations of irregularities on the Democratic side of the last election were injected into the majority contest Thursday when Will J. Graham, mayor elect, filed his answer to Mayor W. B. Cady's petition in common pleas court.

The answer alleges minors and non-residents voted for Mayor Cady, ballots were cast by voters who were not residents of the precincts in which they voted, the Board of Elections failed to count ballots that should have been counted for Mr. Graham, and there were other irregularities. The allegations made by Mr. Graham are very similar to those made by Mayor Cady in his petition.

The answer further contends Mayor Cady failed to file a bond, with sureties approved by the clerk of court with his petition as required by the statutes, and the court has not issued or entered any order for notice and service of a copy of the petition.

Added to the answer is a list of 11 interrogatories. They ask what minors and non-residents cast illegal votes for Mr. Graham and in what precincts they were cast, in what precincts and how many mutilated and defaced ballots were counted, and what other irregularities occurred at the election referred to in the petition.

The case is scheduled for hearing Dec. 16 before a foreign judge to be assigned by the chief justice.

Weldon and Weldon and John P. Phillips, Jr., of Chillicothe, are counsel for Mr. Graham. Leist and Leist and E. L. Crist represent Mr. Cady.

The surprise raid was conducted with precision. The big bombers zoomed low over their objectives, dropped their deadly missiles, and then circled to repeat.

The House passed the senate-conceived bill to advance nearly $250,000 to these counties immediately from utility excise taxes that would be allocated to the counties next Feb. 15.

Gov. Davey signed the bill yesterday after Sen. Paul P. Yoder, (D), Dayton, president pro tem of the senate and J. Freer Bittinger (D), Ashland, speaker of the House, signed the bill. It becomes law immediately, and the state treasurer and state auditor are authorized to advance the funds to the counties in greatest need at once.

The bill, bearing the name of Senator Hunter (D), Toledo, actually provides nearly $750,000 in utility excise tax advances, will give the 19 counties in greatest need only about $125,000.

These counties failed to vote Carey act relief bonds and are without any relief funds.

YOUTH GUARDED IN HOSPITAL AS HOLDUP SUSPECT

near here, and that he is employed at the Glen Robbins mine.

Highway patrolmen said he claimed the shoulder wound was received from an accidental discharge of the gun when he slipped and fell on the ice. A friend who had borrowed the gun, had just returned it, he told them.

Gault was taken to the hospital about 9 o'clock last night by a man who gave his name as Joe Viola. He later disappeared, taking the patients clothing with him.

Gault lives near the Glen Robbins mine with his parents. The mine did not work yesterday.

The man who took the wounded suspect to the hospital explained before departing that he had been called to the home of Gault's mother-in-law, nearby, when an ambulance did not arrive as soon as desired.

"Good Samaritan"

He said he was merely playing the role of "good Samaritan" in removing Gault to the hospital and in returning his clothes to a neighbor at the relatives' request.

COLUMBUS, Dec. 6.—(INS)—State highway patrolmen are hot on the trail of another suspect, believed to have been a member of the bandit trio that held up the Franklin National bank at Franklin, O., Col. Lynn Black of the State Patrol, revealed today.

Black said police and patrolmen have picked up the trail of the suspect reported to have taken James H. Gault, 20, wounded, to a Martins Ferry hospital.

The Monarch basketball team won its first game of the year Thursday in St. Philip's parish house, 18-16, from the Lancaster Brown Bombers.

The local lineup was: G. Thomas and Coleman, forwards; P. Thomas, center; H. Grant and Johnson, guards.

Next Monday has been set as "Old Toy Day" in Circleville's public schools.

All children who can find, salvage, resurrect, dig up, or in any other way gather some toys are urged to take them to their respective school buildings Monday morning. Firemen will call for them.

PUBLIC HEALTH SEAL MONEY RETAINED HERE

With the sale of Christmas Seals now in progress many Pickaway countians are interested in knowing what roles these little stickers played in combating disease locally.

Eighty per cent of the proceeds of the Christmas Seal sale is spent in this county. Last year the funds obtained paid for six chest x-rays, 10 rooms for patients in Berger hospital, dental service for six needy children, 12 tonsil and adenoid operations and 26 pair of glasses in addition to repairs for many others.

The Seals are responsible for saving untold thousands of lives through the program of tuberculosis prevention they support — education, nursing service, tuberculin testing, x-rays, clinics, open air schools and summer camps, rehabilitation and research work. Tuberculosis kills more persons between 15 and 45 than any other disease. This is the 29th year of the Christmas Seal sale.

The work of the Pickaway-co Public Health League has been endorsed by the following citizens: W. B. Cady, Dr. C. C. Beale, Miss Charlotte Phelps, Robert G. Colville, Judge J. W. Adkins, Charles H. May, Judge C. C. Young, C. G. Shulze, A. E. Fissell, O. S. Howard, D. D. Dowden, Carl F. Seitz, Will Hamilton, B. F. Benford, T. A. Renick, J. W. Crist, E. S. Roper, S. G. Rader, Charles Ger-

A wrap-around slip that's adjustable is just about the wisest investment any woman could make, especially if her budget is limited—her measurement difficult. Made with a deep lap in back, it's fastened there with a single button, and should you lose a few pounds in the months to come, simply set the button over a bit, and you've proven the practicality of the adjustable feature. Don't you like the idea of a built-up bodice, for a change? You'll surely approve of shoulder-straps that can't slip, too, and a deeply cut V line in back which allows the slip to be worn with a low-backed frock. Choose a pretty pastel crepe, sateen or muslin for an every day foundation—satin for wear under your best frocks. Complete. Diagrammed Marian Martin Sew Chart included.

Pattern 9665 may be ordered only in sizes 14, 16, 18, 20, 22, 34, 36, 38, 40, 42, 44 and 46. Size 16 requires 3 yards 39 inch fabric.

Send FIFTEEN CENTS in coins or stamps (coins preferred) for EACH MARIAN MARTIN pattern. Be sure to write plainly your NAME, ADDRESS, the STYLE NUMBER and SIZE of each pattern. THE NEW MARIAN MARTIN PATTERN BOOK will be ready for mailing December 18. Place your order now, and be among the first to receive a copy. It's a practical pattern book that interprets Saurin's newest fashions in thrifty, easy-to-make clothes for the whole family. PRICE OF BOOK FIFTEEN CENTS. BOOK AND A PATTERN TOGETHER, TWENTY-FIVE CENTS.

Send your order to The Herald Pattern Department, 210 N. Court-st., Circleville, Ohio.

TO LOCAL MERCHANTS

DEAR FOLKS: Your establishments certainly radiate Christmas with your gay decorations of glittering lights and color. Shopping for local residents should be no task but real fun. You don't have to be a shopper to enjoy a trip downtown. Your stocks this year are the finest offered in many years and the spirit of Christmas has struck early and hard. Each store is the most attractive in its own way. It certainly shouldn't be difficult for residents to shop early and mail early this year.

CIRCUITEER

TO CITY OFFICIALS

GENTLEMEN: This isn't the time of year to start cleaning up lawns but it's a good time to make preparations for cleaning up one next spring. The High-st. cemetery seems to have been completely forgotten. Last summer the grounds were covered with weeds. One small section was cleared sufficiently for a funeral and the remainder of the weeds left to grow and go to seed. The city should provide a fund or take some action to have the cemetery kept in better condition. Has someone along the line dodged his duty?

CIRCUITEER

TO ROUNDTOWNERS

CITIZENS: Last week the toy rebuilding campaign of the fire department was covered with gloom. Gifts were arriving slowly and it appeared the campaign would be a failure. During the present week a number of toys have been brought in but the department is far from swamped. They urge persons to bring in old toys as soon as possible so they have an opportunity to repair them. Next Monday is Toy Day in the city schools and they hope to have the cooperation of the teachers and pupils to make the day a big success. Help make some needy child happy on Christmas.

CIRCUITEER

TO CITY MERCHANTS

BUSINESS MEN: Next Tuesday evening you are going to have the opportunity

WORLD AT A GLANCE

Japanese bankers are not favorable to Japanese expansion—at least, at such a rapid pace. That is the word from Japan.

Manchoukuo has been a heavy drain. Investments there have been large, returns small.

North China would require millions of yen to develop. It is barren, in many respects, of possibilities.

Besides, any great expansion of industry in these annexed regions would anger Japanese industrialists, who have millions at stake in Japan itself, and do not desire competition from colonies.

Why, then, does Japan proceed? Because there is a virtual military dictatorship. That dictatorship believes in state capitalism.

For example, the South Manchuria railway is called on constantly by the military dictatorship to "invest" in industries in Manchoukuo. Japanese bankers are trying to call a halt, for the railway borrows for the "investments" from the bankers. And there is little chance of getting the money back.

But the bankers have to be careful. There is agitation in Japan against bankers. It is a sort of fascist agitation. And bankers and statesmen who oppose the will of the military may fall victim to the assassin.

PRESIDENT'S PLANS?

No newspaper man knows President Roosevelt's plans. Probably few, if any, of his associates know them. But Bernard Kilgore, star reporter of the Wall Street Journal, has made a prediction that has stirred financial New York.

It is a prediction that the President will "switch back" to the liberals and fight out the election with them.

Kilgore says: "President Roosevelt will make renewed bids for liberal support before the new year is very old, and if one or two more important pieces of New Deal legislation are ruled invalid by the supreme court, may even decide by next summer to make 'modernization' of the constitution an issue in the 1936 campaign."

"While the administration has adopted recovery as one of its main talking points next year and is trying to make the most of the much-advertised breathing spell, this bid for conservative support—if, in fact, it is such a support—is failing to meet with anything like an enthusiastic reception. Business leaders, by and large, are refusing to believe that a swing to the right is under way."

"It won't take the president and his chief advisers forever to find this out."

TWO HOT SPOTS

Choice for the Republican national convention seems to be devolving on Cleveland and choice for the Democratic convention may devolve on Philadelphia.

Chief reasons: Republicans believe they have an opportunity to carry Ohio, fourth most populous state, and Ohio has no candidate of its own to push. Democrats believe they have a chance to carry Pennsylvania, second most populous state.

Thus they'll go to their respective battlegrounds to stir up enthusiasm.

CURIOSITY

The banking act, most bitterly fought New Deal measure in congress, probably will be the only to hear, and see in action, one of the foremost speakers and entertainers in Ohio, or in fact, the central states. He is Dusty Miller who comes here from Wilmington to address the Chamber of Commerce. Miller's addresses are always full of humor but there is a lot of real philosophy in everything he has to say. I earnestly urge you to make arrangements with some director of the organization to attend the meeting. It will do you a lot of good.

CIRCUITEER

TO HOUSEKEEPERS

DEAR LADIES: It has now reached the time of the year where extreme care to prevent fires is necessary. You will be placing your Christmas wreaths and other decorations, and every little thing invites flames. I urge you to exercise utmost care for the safety of yourselves, your children, and your property.

CIRCUITEER

TO LUTHERAN BROTHERHOOD

FELLOWS: Too many congratulations cannot be heaped upon yourselves and your pastors, Dr. G. J. and Rev. G. L. Troutman, for the success of your fine organization. A silver anniversary was observed last evening by your group and the affair, I am told, was a great success. Tribute was paid to the men who helped form and who have been behind the brotherhood ever since its organization. The good your brotherhood has done in the church and in Circleville affairs is unlimited. I urge you to continue policies that have carried you through 25 years of success, and into 25 additional years of prosperity.

TO POLITICIANS

PARTY WORKERS: I read in the papers where some real old-fashioned political activities are just around the corner. Our own mayor's contest has not yet been definitely concluded with the court fight to start in less than two weeks. State and national battles are brewing with state-ments the past week proving that many issues will be determined in the spring. First Charles Sawyer announces he will oppose Governor Davey for the Democratic nomination; then Clarence Brown, popular among Pickaway-co residents, declared he was not going to be in the G. O. P. contest for the job he couldn't win last year but would work for Col. Knox of Chicago; next came Governor Davey's declaration at Kent that he would be in the race and would fight Senator Bulkley and his "hand picked" choices; and finally John Bricker made an announcement that he would run for governor. This was not news because it has been known for a long while Bricker would run. Pickaway-co, Democratic by about 1,800 votes, will play an important part in the primaries and the eventual election. All party workers are expected to do their parts.

CIRCUITEER

Of course war is more dreadful than it used to be, but what of it. Peace is, too.

MURDER UPSTAIRS

ADAM BLISS

READ THIS FIRST:

A middle-aged bachelor, Andrew Darrin, has been found murdered in the boarding house of Alice Penny, stabbed to death with a missing carving knife as he slept. The night before Lucy Upham, an old friend, had requested Alice to ask Darrin to leave because she disliked him. Before the police, headed by Lieutenant Kirk Larrabee, arrive, Alice finds a hairpin she knows belongs to Janet Bell, her youngest boarder, in Darrin's room. She accuses it in her own hair. Larrabee summons Alice from the living room where she and her seven remaining boarders have been waiting. The detective asks about the various boarders and the two servants. Larrabee learns that Darrin was generally disliked in the house. The detective asks minute questions about Helen Starnmont, a widow and one of the new boarders, and Conrad Withers, a school teacher. (NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY)

CHAPTER 11

"THIS MORNING," Lieutenant Larrabee continued, "Withers was upset at breakfast. Didn't eat his griddle kidneys although they are his favorite dish. Didn't touch a bite of them. In the living room he was clearly very nervous."

"But there's some other explanation for it," I interrupted. "I'm sure there is."

"Well see, Mrs. Penny. What did you do after you had let Withers in?"

"I thought I heard a noise in the dining room so I went there to investigate."

"And what was the noise?"

"Nothing, but I went on into the kitchen and found Miss Cambridge heating herself some milk. She often does. Lately she's been troubled with insomnia. Hot milk helps her to sleep. I stayed in the kitchen with her and we talked. When we went upstairs it was 1:20 by the hall clock. I looked at it again."

"Larrabee pursed his lips. 'Why if Miss Cambridge was in the kitchen did Withers throw a stone to your window on the fourth floor?'"

"I don't know. I imagine that when Mr. Withers came to the house the kitchen was dark. I'm sure if Miss Cambridge knew that he was wanting to get in, she would have let him in. She well, you don't know her, but I do. Once last week when Mr. Withers got in at 4, and she happened to be awake, she told me the first thing in the morning. Then, you can't see the lights in the house from the front or side of the house, where Mr. Withers would come along from the street car."

"How do you know he came home on the street car?"

"He hasn't a car."

"You didn't say anything to Miss Cambridge about why you had come downstairs?"

"No, I thought it was none of her business. And it hadn't been."

"You accompanied Miss Cambridge upstairs, then. Was the second floor dark when you reached there?"

"Yes. On the third floor there was a light under Mr. Withers' door, and one under Mr. Talbot's—that was all."

"Miss Cambridge's room was dark when you went downstairs and dark when you came up?" he asked.

"Yes, she's very careful about electricity. On the third floor, I turned into the back hall, and went right to my room, and to bed again."

"Larrabee wrote some more in his notebook, and then put a cross after Mr. Withers' name. I hated to see it go there."

"Mrs. Penny, I noticed your front door has a Yale lock, and a night latch. When you went to bed, after you had looked over the house, did you turn the night latch?"

"Yes."

"I remembered it perfectly."

"When you came downstairs to let in Withers, was it still turned?"

"It was."

"And Withers was the only one in the house who went out last night?"

"I think so. Oh, Mrs. Starnmont

Delia screamed when she saw the knife.

probably took her usual walk, but she goes in by 10. Usually when someone plans to go out in the evening, everybody at the dinner table knows it. Last night there was nothing said about anybody going out. Mr. Withers never mentions when he goes out, neither does Mrs. Starnmont say anything about her walks, but the others do. We're sort of a family, you know."

Larrabee seemed to think there was something funny about this. He laughed. "And one of your precious family stuck a knife into Andrew Darrin?"

"I flinched at that."

"Do you know anything about Darrin's will? To whom he left his money?"

"I'm sure I don't. Mr. Darrin never confided any of his business to me. Mr. Hemmingsworth might know, but I don't. I don't even know the name of his lawyer."

"I do, Mrs. Penny. That'll be all for you, now. I think."

"I rose to go, but he motioned for me to stay in my seat. 'I'll want you to stay until I talk to Delia Randall, if you please.'"

"So I sat there, and wondered what Delia would do when she saw the knife. For she was going to see it. It was right on the desk where she couldn't miss it."

Larrabee went to the door, opened it, and told the officer in the hall, whom I afterwards discovered to be Sergeant Burke, to call Delia Randall.

Delia screamed when she saw the knife, and it took me five minutes to get her anywhere near back to her senses. I'd expected it, and I wasn't surprised, but Lieutenant Larrabee seemed surprised.

"It was a mean trick making the poor girl look at that knife after what she had seen upstairs, during breakfast, and I told Larrabee so. Still I was glad he had let me stay in the room to comfort her, for she was badly shaken. When I finally got her calmed down, some, he started with his questions."

"Delia, is this the knife you put on the buffet last night?"

"She couldn't talk yet, but she nodded, a pitiful miserable nod."

"Don't look at the knife, Delia," I said quietly. "Look out of the window. That was what I had been doing all the time Lieutenant Larrabee had been interrogating me. She took my advice."

"Tell me all about it—start with what you did after dinner, please."

Delia's voice was weak, and her red hands were twisting and untwisting her apron. Her eyes were glassy and brownish wisps of hair were falling over her face. I always have a time getting Delia to keep her hair tidy. She has such a mop of it, and it's long in the bargain. The big knot at the back of her neck was almost down.

"After dinner I did the dishes. Washed 'em, as I always do, sir. Washed the knife with the silver."

"Yes," Larrabee urged, for she had halted abruptly. "You washed the knife."

"An' I was careful to wipe it good afterwards, like Mrs. Penny tells me because it's a—good knife." She gulped noisily, and I moved my chair over closer and patted her arm.

"And then?"

"An' then, when the dishes and silver and pans was all washed and everything put away but the silver, which goes in the dining room buffet in a special drawer, I sharpened the knife."

"You sharpened the knife before you took it into the dining room?" Larrabee asked quickly.

"Yes, sir. I always do at night before I put the knife away—so's it'll be sharp when it's used again. Mrs. Penny always likes it sharp, sir. And the stone is in the kitchen drawer, so I sharpen it there. I got it nice and sharp in a few minutes, and put it on the tray with the other silver, an' carried the tray through the pass pantry an' into the dining room, puttin' the tray on the buffet like I usually do. I'd put away most of the silver—and there was only the carving knife." She gulped again. "An' the big fork that don't match it, and goes with the old carving knife which we use in the kitchen since we got a new knife, when Grace calls me."

"What did Grace want?"

"Grace wants to tell me that she's going upstairs. She's got a headache, and will I lock up when I'm through."

"How long did this conversation with Grace last?"

"Why, sir, maybe a few minutes, maybe more. I got Grace some sody and put it in a glass with hot water for her, and waited until she'd drunk it, and went up the back stairs. That's how long it took, sir. I ain't sure."

"Then you went back into the dining room and found the knife gone?"

"I did, sir. Spirted away, so I went in to tell Mrs. Penny, thinkin' she'd want to know. The fork was still on the tray, but the knife—it was gone, sir."

SCOTT'S SCRAPBOOK

By R. J. SCOTT

BRILLIANT, BRILLIANT!

The ambitious young applicant for a civil service post was taking his examinations. All came out all right for him until he came to the general knowledge test.

This puzzled him for a while, but at last he thought of a way out of the difficulty.

"Give the quantity of coal exported from U. S. A. in any stated year," read the question.

With a sigh of relief he put down his answer: "In 1492, none."

The folly of growing the same crop on the same land for several successive years was noted by the Romans, but the attention was first called to the value of crop rotations in 1777 in a treatise by Dickson, of Edinburgh, Scotland.

RED AND BLACK, BOURNEVILLE '5' TANGLE TONIGHT

Landrum May Be Without Services of Henry for Game With Unknown Foe

The Red and Black cage team in its new uniforms will meet an unknown quantity this evening in the Athletic club gymnasium when Bourneville, usually a pretty good Ross-co class B outfit, invades the local court.

The preliminary between the reserve teams of the two schools will start at 7:30 with the varsity encounter about an hour later. Bourneville will visit Circleville for the first time in many years, if it ever played here, Coach Jack Landrum doesn't know what to expect and neither do his boys. It is almost certain the contest will be interesting.

Henry May Be Out

Landrum today was not certain what his starting lineup would be. Don Henry, stellar guard, is working and it was feared he would not be able to take part until after Christmas. In that case either Griffith, Friley, Plum or Jackson will probably see service. It seems that Melson will be at center, Styers and Andrews at the forwards and Jenkins at one guard. Henry played a guard last week and it will be for this position, if there is a vacancy, that the scramble will probably take place. The Red and Black forwards did not play up to snuff in the New Holland game. They did not cut, feint, or show the ball handling ability expected of them. They may hit tonight. We hope so.

Meet Jackson Quintet

Saturday evening the Jackson-twp team, victorious in two out of three games played in the county loop, will invade the CAC hardwood. Reserve teams will again open the festivities at 7:30. Jackson, under Coach Bob Terhune, has now more games than in the entire season a year ago. Circleville is expected to win but it will be only after a pretty good chase.

Ray Coleman, former Ohio Wesleyan track star, will referee the Friday game while Leo Uridil, Ohio State tackle at 7:30. Jackson, Elmer Marek, Howard Kriss, etc. were performing will handle the Saturday game.

IRISH PRODUCE HIGH SCORING CAGE TEAM

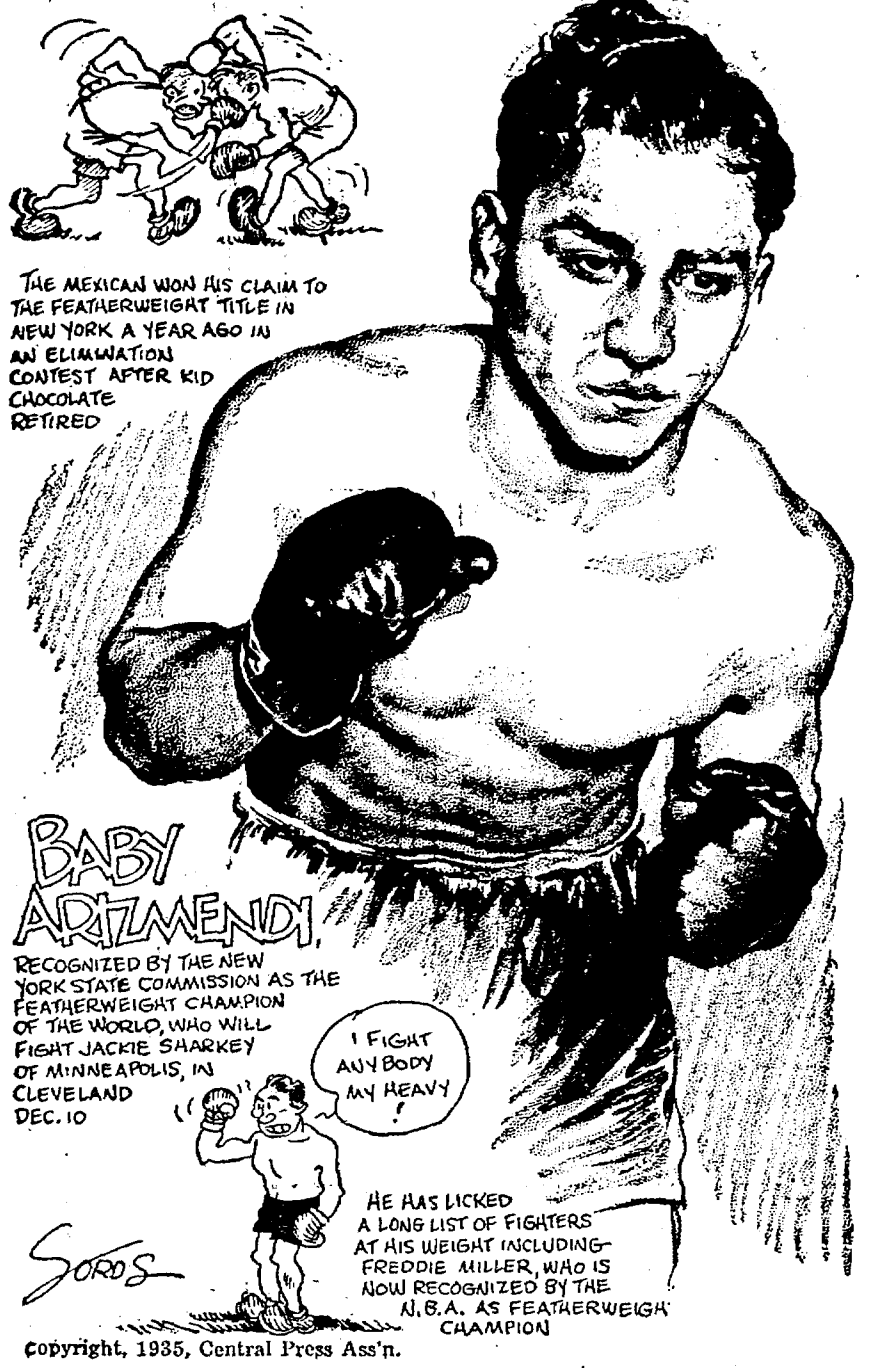

SOUTH BEND, Dec. 6—Notre Dame's basketball team, off to continue the fine season of the football team, has rung up 172 points in three basketball games to date. The team has beaten Albion, 62-26; St. Mary's of Minnesota, 45-22, and Kalamazoo college, 65-17.

Johnny Hopkins and John Moir, forwards, the latter a sophomore, have been the high scorers, Hopkins getting 17 points in 29 minutes in one game and Moir, 17 points in 20 minutes in another.

MERLE WENDT CHOSEN

CHICAGO, Dec. 6—Merle Wendt, captain-elect, is the only Ohio State man to make the Chicago American's all-Conference team.

MEXICAN TYPHOON - - - By Jack Sords

Pickaway, Williamsport Play County's Feature

Several Fast Games Expected in Class B Circles; Ashville-Monroe Girls to Be Close

The feature of tonight's games in the county league will probably be played at Pickaway-twp between the Williamsport teams coached by Emil Haney meeting Carl Burger's Plainsmen.

Both teams have been doing well, although Williamsport was chinned by New Holland last week. Burger's boys have developed a lot and may win a game on their home court.

The girls teams will also vie for honors with the results a toss-up.

Walnut, considerably weaker than usual after losing an entire varsity five last year, moves over to New Holland where it will possibly lose a game. The girls may help matters, however, by knocking out a victory. You never can tell, though, because those New Holland girls can play good ball, too.

Saltcreek makes a long trip to Scioto, Ashville treks over to Darby and should knock off the boys, last year's tournament champions, but the Harrison-co girls may meet their Waterloo.

Washington and Perry play on the Atlanta court, while Jackson and Monroe play at Williamsport. Monroe has not yet lost a game under Forrest Brown's tutelage.

PLAY BEFORE 483,018

SOUTH BEND, Ind., Dec. 3—Notre Dame varsity football team played before 483,018 fans in nine games the past season.

The sting of the hornet is most violent. More poison is injected into the wound than in the case of the other insects.

About This And That In Many Sports

A Sportsmanship Lesson

This is addressed, not to any member of the high school cage team nor to any athlete in Hawaii or points west, but it is a fact that no athletic team, any basketball team, can survive if there are only five men on the squad. It is necessary that a coach substitute the way he believes is wisest; to pick the athletes he thinks will do his team most good. Often, as a result, some cagers, ball players or pinochle artists, believe they haven't been done right by. Often a game will be close; a combination will be doing well, stopping another team's best plays, and the mentor will refrain making substitutions—Isn't it better for a high school athlete, sitting on the hard wood of the bench, to grit teeth and say to himself: "Watch me the rest of this week, if I don't win myself a first team place it won't be my fault," than to sulk and threaten to quit? *

Fullerton's New Yorkers

This probably won't interest anyone but Bob Newhall and he won't read it—but here is the all-time all-star New York baseball team as picked by Hugh Fullerton, Hillsboro and Columbus, for the Sporting News: first base, Lou Gehrig; second base, Larry Doyle; third base, Jerry Denny; shortstop, Travis Jackson; left field, Babe Ruth; center field, Mike Donlin; right field, Ross Young; catchers, Roger Bresnahan and Chief Meyers; pitchers, Christy Mathewson, Amos Eule, Jack Chesbro, and Art Nehf. * * * How about Frank Frisch at second base? *

Indians Offering Hurlers

Cleveland Indians are offering Monte Pearson and Oral Hildebrand as bait for a some ball players *

Landman Is Still Good

We were put on the pan by a couple of guys, "H. O. G.", for saying Everett Landman of New Holland is a good center. The panning came after Tuesday evening's game when Landman scored only four points—All we have to say is: Watch the scores of other games in which Landman plays this year—Coach Jack Landrum of the high school watched Landman at Williamsport and formed his defense to help put the dampers on the big fellow.—He wasn't covered by one man but in a couple—Ah well, it's all in fun anyway, isn't it? *

Two Youths Win Numerals

It was good news to learn that Jim Scoles and George Speakman, Ashville and Circleville athletes respectively, have received freshman numerals, have their football ability at Ohio State—Sweaters and numerals were given to 98 boys—A pretty nice squad—some of them will become great football players, undoubtedly, in a couple of years *

Wouldn't This Be Nice?

Here's an imaginary football schedule for Ohio State and we wonder, if Ohio went through the season undefeated, if it would receive any recognition outside of Ohio:

Oct. 3, Pittsburgh; Oct. 10, Minnesota; Oct. 17, Notre Dame; Oct. 24, Princeton; Oct. 31, Colgate; Nov. 7, Alabama; Nov. 14, Southern Methodist; Nov. 21, Stanford; Nov. 28, Army—Wouldn't that be a honey? * * * Then someone would say Ohio picked a soft spot before the Alabama game *

AT THE CLIFTONA

Although Ginger Rogers' initial solo starring picture, "In Person", is essentially a light comedy-drama, it also presents her distinctive dancing and singing.

Ginger Rogers' rise to her present position at the top of the feminine dancing stars was achieved through her skillful feet and a vital personality. Winning a Charleston contest in her home town, her striking ability landed her in such Broadway shows as "Top Speed" and "Girl Crazy." Her extraordinarily rapid rise to an actor's goal solo stardom—has been in great part due to her sparkling work as co-star with Fred Astaire in "Flying Down to Rio," "The Gay Divorcee," "Roberta" and "Top Hat." As an extra attraction the Cliftona will show Rear Admiral Byrd's "LITTLE AMERICAN."

AT THE CIRCLE

One of the many sprightly love scenes between Constance Bennett and Frederic March was being filmed for "The Affairs of Cellini," their first co-starring vehicle for Joseph M. Schenck and Darryl F. Zanuck's 20th Century Pictures, depicting the colorful amorous es-
